EAST LIVERPOOL, O. SATURDAY, JULY 2, 1898.

TWO CENTS

YOUNG AMERICA'S DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

Our patriot fathers stood firm in the fight
And were ready to conquer or die for the right.
They won. So will we should we fight every man
Who would place our firecrackers under a ban.
What? Keep us from showing how happy we feel
That we live where to despots we never need kneel.
Should they try to do this we'll declare our rights, too,
And firmly maintain them against the whole crew.
Some claim that our method of keeping the day
Is a nuisance that should be proscribed right away
And that then our rockets' and firecrackers'
rattle
Would no longer disturb their meaningless
tattle.
No doubt there's some danger to life and to limb
When we keep up the Fourth with our usual
vim.
A few may be injured, some few perhaps die,
By our loyal display on the Fourth of July.
But if there's some risk in our fiery display
'Tis mostly to us. And how could we, pray,
Our sires emulate, to their spirit aspire,
But by having, like them, a baptism of fire?
Then, hurrah, for a bright, noisy Fourth of July!
Let us honor the day and constantly try
To follow their footsteps who willingly gave
Their all, even life, their dear country to save.
NEIL MACDONALD.

THE RUSTY SWORD.

BY G. T. FERRIS.

Handsome fur rugs, many of them the spoils of the owner's rifle, were scattered over the oak floor, and the room was lined with bookcases filled with the best literature of the world. Between the moose and elk heads mounted on the walls were scattered fine water colors and etchings. Here stood a stand of pipes, there a cabinet of sporting guns. An angling rod was prop-ed up against a handsome bronze, and a dozen half made trout flies were tumbled together in an enameled Japanese plaque.
The apartment, in a word, was typical of the accomplished trifter who had the tastes if not the talents of a Crichton. But the ornament in which the young man took most pride among numerous masculine knickknacks was a large wooden shield on which were suspended half a dozen swords of different patterns. A pair of modern sabers and a splendid "presentation" sword had come to him from his father, who had been a dashing cavalry officer during the civil war. A short saber in a plain shagreen scabbard curved just above them, sacred to the memory of his grandfather, who had commanded a battery at Buena Vista and been slain there in a charge of the Mexican lancers. A slender blade with a silver chased hilt bore witness of a remoter ancestor, one who had served on General Hull's staff and had protested bitterly against that commander's surrender of Detroit in 1812.
"But there's the tool," said Geoffrey to his friend Adams, a young lawyer, as they sat smoking one Sunday afternoon, "belonging to the fine old crusty warrior of the lot," pointing to the topmost sword.
He took it down—a long, straight out and thrust, and tried to unsheathe it, but it stuck so fast as to resist all his strength.
"That is he," he continued as he bowed before an oil painting, dingy with years,

Congress, which originally included this and several adjoining towns."

"Lucky dog," sighed Adams, "to have inherited lots of money and a distinguished name; but, all the same, you can't un-breathe your great-great-grandfather's sword."

"No; neither literally nor as a figure of speech," said Geoffrey, struggling in vain with the rusted sword blade and refusing his friend's offer of help, "I'm a sad degenerate, I fear. Here I am ten years out of college and am only an idler and a dilettante, with little prospect of ever being anything else, while you, lucky dog—you have everything before you, and nothing behind except splendid health and energy.
I tell you, my boy, you'll make the bagpipes scream, while I shan't even whistle through the chanter, as my old Scotch nurse would say."

Adams laughed a little in his sleeve, for he suspected the cause of this pessimism, so alien to Geoffrey's usual easy and animated temper, to be his bitter quarrel with Janet Hardy, a very lovely but energetic young person of the modern school, always unhappy unless she was "doing things." Janet also came of distinguished colonial stock and was prominent in the local chapter of the Daughters of the Revolution, an institution of which she was proud beyond measure.

"What a charming thing is repose in woman," he had said to his betrothed a few weeks before on her returning from the great convention which had assembled the Daughters and the Colonial Dames together in New York for the main purpose of instigating a greater interest in the Fourth of July and its proper celebration. Janet had rattled on with great enthusiasm about what had been said and done by these feminine patriots.
This meditative remark of Geoffrey's struck fire. This response was a thrust en riposte, at once parry and lunge:

"D'ye think so, my Lord Dawdle," she had answered with a snap in her brilliant black eyes, "more so at all events than repose in man, which the wise sometimes call self conceited stock."

This stinging reply had led to other exchanges in which their unruly tongues betrayed them, and the result, as sometimes occurs between a couple genuinely fond of each other, was a rupture and mutual return of various little mementos, leaving the twinges of heartache behind.

As may be inferred from Geoffrey's unfortunate remark, he had but little sympathy with the bustling business woman of the new age, even when he approved the aims to be achieved. In this case he was in lively accord with the object of Janet's eager agitation, which first fired the men into a flame of commemorative ardor.
Scornfully as she bore herself and coldly

HER HEART WAS RAGING WITH TENDER PITY. polite as was Geoffrey in the occasional passing word, she knew (perhaps the sly rogue's zeal was none the less for this) that he was proving her most efficient ally. Certainly it was his suggestion, which had been adopted nem. con. as to the special form which the celebration of the great fete day should take. This was planned on the following schedule: First, a grand procession in the morning consisting of about 100 of the principal men of Williston and the vicinity riding on horseback in the costume of the Revolutionary epoch, military and civil, followed by as many ladies correspondingly attired in carriages, then by a regiment of the national guard; secondly, the usual patriotic address by the most eminent of the local celebrities, Judge Peterson, and a great picnic in a grove, and in the evening elaborate fireworks for the people on the Williston green, with a costume ball at the town hall for the gentry in the same attire as that of the morning. All this involved considerable expense and preparation, but Williston was a place of large wealth, and the residents had been thoroughly aroused to meet the occasion.

"Well, continue to show as much 'go' in any direction worth while as you have put into this Fourth of July matter," said Adams, pursuant of their talk, "and you'll falsify your own prediction."
"That's the deuce of it," answered Geoffrey, with a deprecating frown. "This is fun, and it appeals to a fellow's patriotic pride. The other is work—genuine grind. I have thought for a good while that the country has let Independence day die into a sort of mummified holiday without any life in it, precisely like this rusty sword blade, confound it!" as he still tugged at the brass hilt. "I must put oil in and soak it out. I don't suppose I shall have to draw it on parade, but that steel must come out of prison. And, by the way, there's an old tradition in the family which I remember as a boy. The general left an injunction in his will that at least once a year his descendant possessing the sword should unsheathe it and keep the blade bright. I had forgotten about it till this moment, and I don't believe that any one else has ever thought of it. But I'll do it yet and redeem some of my lazy ancestors."

"Good for you," said Adams. "Methinks I already see the old gentleman smiling on you from his portrait," for just then a burst of sunlight through a cloudy
day flashed into the room and brightened
the somber paint of the picture.

Another ten days brought the great occasion for which Williston was all agog.
Early in the morning Geoffrey Marcoe
again set to work on the obstinate sword, which had been assiduously coaxed with oil; but no amount of struggle was able to loosen the blade. To his disgust he felt obliged to give it up for the nonce, but he anticipated no awkwardness, as he could see no occasion for drawing of swords except on the part of the militia officers. In any case that was the proper sword for him to wear.

Poor fellow! He little guessed that, however unthought of in advance, the inspiration of every heart in or out of uniforms, when steel was worn by the side, would be to flash its brightness in the July sunlight
in salute of Old Glory as they passed
the green over which fluttered its silken folds. And so it came to pass. As the cavalcade reached the line of the flagstaff a whisper ran among the Revolutionary worthies. Every hand was clapped to every hilt, Geoffrey's among them. Sweat drops beaded his face in agony of his effort, and as he writhed and bit off bad words
underneath his mustache the irreverent and irresponsible small boy, so much in evidence at spectacles, began to snicker.
This piece of real life comedy attracted attention and was noticed even by those in the first carriage not far away, for the road
curved sharply around the green oval.

"Mr. Marcoe is less apt with the cold steel than his ancestors have been," giggled a fair one sitting with Janet Hardy—Mary Bodkin, who, report said, had vainly angled for the unfortunate Geoff.

The sharp retort flew to Janet's tongue:
"I suppose so. The kind of 'steel' he is

"I BRING YOU A MESSAGE FROM THE DEAD,"
HE SAID.

more familiar with is that of hearts of silly girls he never cared a bodkin for." Her heart was raging with tender pity and sympathy, and she resented ridicule like a slap in the face.

Geoffrey did succeed in drawing that

demon sword at last, and a piece of paper fluttered from it, which he saw had as much to do with its reluctance to come forth as had the rust of years. He thrust
it in his pocket as it was restored to him
by a bystander, though not without observing that it was closely covered with writing. He took the earliest opportunity, which was at the picnic, to examine his mysterious find, and great were his wonder and delight in deciphering the faded and oil stained words.

It was his statement made over the signature of his great-great-grandfather, General Marcoe: "And I have set forth in my last testament that the sword around which this is wrapped shall be drawn from the sheathe for scouring once a year and the paper rewrapped again, to the end that each inheritor of the sword once wet with the blood of Marcus Hardy, however cleansed thereafter by nobler service, may bead."

The document set forth how a young hot head, flushed with wine, had grossly insulted his friend at a tavern brawl and the twain had gone out to ruffle it with naked swords in the early morning light.
"Twas little after dawn of July 6, 1776,
when, horror stricken, I looked down on
my victim with his blood stained breast.
As I groaned in my agony there came the clatter of resounding hoofs on the pike, one riding in furious haste, haggard and weary looking, as who had spared neither spur nor whip all night. 'Help to get a surgeon for a wounded man!' I cried. He shouted back: 'I stay neither for life nor death. The colonies declared independence two days ago at Philadelphia, and I bear the tidings to New York.' And at the wonderful words the dying man raised his head with a light of joy beyond words in his pallid face as he panted from betwixt
the blood froth of his lips: 'I die happy
now, Geoffrey, for the country will be free,
even though I shall not live to fight for it.
Think naught more of your part in my death, but rather bear yourself like two men for the dear land.' We got him at last safe to good nursing, and Marcus Hardy lived to be my gallant comrade through the war, and we became even as David and Jonathan thereafter. I do hereby enjoin my descendants to keep the friendship of Marcoe and Hardy ever unbroken even to the end, that they may always fight the battle of life with hand
clasp and united hearts."

Is it a marvel that Geoffrey heard but little of the orators' burning periods and that the picnic gayety fell flat and stale
on him? Amid all the buzz of congratula-tion his heart beat impatiently for the evening and a quiet word with Janet
which would come with it.

His eye followed her stately figure
through the mazes of the dance at the ball and revealed in the beauty of the black eyes under the powdered hair and the twin roses accented with dainty patches. But he avoided more than a commonplace greeting and did not even ask to walk a quadrille. But he found opportunity to drop a passing whisper: "Meet me in the reception room off the hall in ten minutes. I must see you."

he said as her eyes met his in curious query.

"The dead are infinitely condescending to leave their repose to disturb our repose," she answered with a little malice,
courtesying in old time fashion.

"When I drew that unlucky yet most lucky sword this morning, something came out with it." And he unsheathed
the sword again with the paper wrapped about it, holding the blade by the point in the attitude of surrender.

Satirical humor went out of her sparkling face, and it softened as with a glow of tender wonder and anticipation. Holding the naked sword in one hand, she read that Marcoe legacy, and her eyes were suffused into wells of liquid sweetness, which revealed all that Geoffrey could hope in them.

"Do you forgive me?" he said as the thrill of her outstretched hand drew him
to her.

"I didn't need this for pardon," she whispered to him. "My heart had forgiven you five minutes afterward. But you stupid men never know women."

He made an instinctive movement. "No, no; not now," she said hurriedly as she looked around, and then, as with a new thought, the old keen look flashed again into her eyes, and she continued with a peculiar significance in her tones:

"Will you pledge me now, Geoffrey dear, always to keep the sword scoured bright and sharp? You know movement, not repose, is the law of life."

He sheathed the blade. "When a fellow's wife has the ghost of his great-great-grandfather looking over her shoulder, I fancy he'll have to do pretty much as she likes," he answered, with a laugh.

THE VILLAGE FOURTH.

Within the shaded doorway
The eager children stand,
For the strains of stirring music
Announce the coming band.

The roar of distant cannon
Mingles with the chime of bells,
While nearer still and nearer
The joyous tumult swells.

Dear grandma leaves her knitting,
And with baby on her knee
Comes and sits among the children,
Who are shouting now with glee.

For adown the street comes marching
A long and varied train
Keeping step to "Yankee Doodle,"
The merry old refrain.

Now the last of the procession,
With its flags and streamers gay,
Whisks around a distant corner
In a cloud of dust away.

Take No Chances on the Fourth.
Don't talk politics on the Fourth.
Don't go on a crowded excursion.
Don't be ashamed to be patriotic.
Don't get overheated early in the day.
Don't carry loose powder in your pocket.
Don't laugh at the drum major—pity him.

Don't put all your fireworks in one heap.

Don't drive a nervous horse on the Fourth.

Don't think powder is a respecter of persons.

Don't encourage small boys to fire large cannon.

Don't take any chances with a cracked
cannon.

Don't blow down the mouth of a loaded
cannon.

Don't put your nose to a rocket after lighting it.

Acknowledged.

"I do not claim," said the thoughtful member of the club, "that the influence of fashion is entirely harmful. We must admit that we owe the milliner and dressmaker something."

"Goodness, yes!" exclaimed the usually frivolous member, shuddering.
"My account can't be less than $150."

The chaffinch is a favorite bird in Germany. It is beautiful and a fine singer. Its various colors are gray or deep blue on the neck, a reddish brown on the breast, white on the wing covers and blueish black on the tail.

whence looked the stern but courtly fea-

blade bright. I had forgotten about it till
this moment, and I don't believe that any one else has ever thought of it. But I'll do it yet and redeem some of my lazy ancestors."

"Good for you," said Adams. "Me-
thinks I already see the old gentleman
smiling on you from his portrait," for just
then a burst of sunlight through a cloudy
day flashed into the room and brightened
the somber paint of the picture.

Another ten days brought the great occasion for which Williston was all agog.
Early in the morning Geoffrey Marcoe
again set to work on the obstinate sword,
which had been assiduously coaxed with oil; but no amount of struggle was able to loosen the blade. To his disgust he felt obliged to give it up for the nonce, but he anticipating no awkwardness, as he could see no occasion for drawing of swords except on the part of the militia officers. In any case that was the proper sword for
him to wear.

Poor fellow! He little guessed that, however unthought of in advance, the inspiration of every heart in or out of uniform,
when steel was worn by the side, would be
to flash its brightness in the July sunlight
in salute of Old Glory as they passed
the green over which fluttered its silken
folds. And so it came to pass. As the cavalcade reached the line of the flagstaff a whisper ran among the Revolutionary worthies. Every hand was clapped to every hilt, Geoffrey's among them. Sweat dropped beaded his face in agony of his effort,
and as he writhed and bit off bad words
underneath his mustache the irreverent
and irresponsible small boy, so much in evidence at spectacles, began to snicker.
This piece of real life comedy attracted attention and was noticed even by those in the first carriage not far away, for the road
curved sharply around the green oval.

"Mr. Marcoe is less apt with the cold steel than his ancestors have been," glib-bled a fair one sitting with Janet Hardy—
Mary Bodkin, who, report said, had vainly
angled for the unfortunate Geoff.

The sharp retort flew to Janet's tongue:
"I suppose so. 'The kind of 'steal' he is

HE SAID.

more familiar with is that of hearts of silly
girls he never cared a bodkin for." Her heart was raging with tender pity and
sympathy, and she resented ridicule like a slap in the face.

Geoffrey did succeed in drawing that

demon sword at last, and a piece of paper
fluttered from it, which he saw had as much to do with its reluctance to come forth as had the rust of years. He thrust
it in his pocket as it was restored to him
by a bystander, though not without observing that it was closely covered with writing. He took the earliest opportunity,
which was at the picnic, to examine his mysterious find, and great were his wonder
and delight in deciphering the faded and
oil stained words.

It was his statement made over the signature of his great-great-grandfather, General Marcoe: "And I have set forth in my last testament that the sword around
which this is wrapped shall be drawn from the sheathe for scouring once a year and
the paper rewrapped again, to the end that each inheritor of the sword once wet with the blood of Marcus Hardy, however cleansed thereafter by nobler service, may heed."

The document set forth how a young
hot head, flushed with wine, had grossly insulted his friend at a tavern brawl and
the twain had gone out to ruffle it with naked swords in the early morning light.
"Twas little after dawn of July 6, 1776,
when, horror stricken, I looked down on
my victim with his blood stained breast.
As I groaned in my agony there came the
clatter of resounding hoofs on the pike,
one riding in furious haste, haggard and
weary looking, as who had spared neither
spur nor whip all night. 'Help to get a surgeon for a wounded man!' I cried. He shouted back: 'I stay neither for life nor death. The colonies declared Independence
two days ago at Philadelphia, and I bear the tidings to New York.' And at the wonderful words the dying man raised his head with a light of joy beyond words in
his pallid face as he panted from betwixt
the blood froth of his lips: 'I die happy
now, Geoffrey, for the country will be free,
even though I shall not live to fight for it.
Think naught more of your part in my death, but rather bear yourself like two men for the dear land.' We got him at last safe to good nursing, and Marcus
Hardy lived to be my gallant comrade
through the war, and we became even as David and Jonathan thereafter. I do hereby enjoin my descendants to keep the friendship of Marcoe and Hardy ever unbroken even to the end, that they may always fight the battle of life with hand
clasp and united hearts."

Is it a marvel that Geoffrey heard but little of the orators' burning periods and that the picnic gayety fell flat and stale
on him? Amid all the buzz of congratula-tion his heart beat impatiently for the evening and a quiet word with Janet
which would come with it.

His eye followed her stately figure
through the mazes of the dance at the ball and revelled in the beauty of the black eyes under the powdered hair and the twin roses accented with dainty patches. But he avoided more than a commonplace
greeting and did not even ask to walk a quadrille. But he found opportunity to drop a passing whisper: "Meet me in the reception room off the hall in ten minutes. I must see you."

he said as her eyes met his in curious
query.

"The dead are infinitely condescending
to leave their repose to disturb our repose," she answered with a little malice,
courtesying in old time fashion.

"When I drew that unlucky yet most lucky sword this morning, something came out with it." And he unsheathed
the sword again with the paper wrapped
about it, holding the blade by the point in the attitude of surrender.

Satirical humor went out of her spar-

ling face, and it softened as with a glow of tender wonder and anticipation. Holding the naked sword in one hand, she read
that Marcoe legacy, and her eyes were suf-
fused into wells of liquid sweetness, which revealed all that Geoffrey could hope in them.

"Do you forgive me?" he said as the thrill of her outstretched hand drew him
to her.

"I didn't need this for pardon," she whispered to him. "My heart had forgiven you five minutes afterward. But you
stupid men never know women."

He made an instinctive movement. "No,
no; not now," she said hurriedly as she looked around, and then, as with a new thought, the old keen look flashed again into her eyes, and she continued with a peculiar significance in her tones:

"Will you pledge me now, Geoffrey dear,
always to keep the sword scoured bright
and sharp? You know movement, not repose, is the law of life."

He sheathed the blade. "When a fellow's wife has the ghost of his great-great-grandfather looking over her shoulder, I fancy he'll have to do pretty much as she

THE VILLAGE FOURTH.

Within the shaded doorway
The eager children stand,
For the strains of stirring music
Announce the coming band.

The roar of distant cannon
Mingles with the chime of bells,
While nearer still and nearer
The joyous tumult swells.

Dear grandma leaves her knitting,
And with baby on her knee
Comes and sits among the children,
Who are shouting now with glee.

For down the street comes marching
Keeping step to "Yankee Doodle,"
The merry old refrain.

Now the last of the procession,
With its flags and streamers gay,
Whisks around a distant corner

Take No Chances on the Fourth.

- Don't talk politics on the Fourth.
- Don't go on a crowded excursion.
- Don't be ashamed to be patriotic.
- Don't get overheated early in the day.
- Don't carry loose powder in your pocket.
- Don't laugh at the drum major—ptty him.
- Don't put all your fireworks in one heap.
- Don't drive a nervous horse on the Fourth.
- Don't think powder is a respecter of persons.
- Don't encourage small boys to fire large cannon.
- Don't take any chances with a cracked cannon.
- Don't blow down the mouth of a loaded cannon.
- Don't put your nose to a rocket after lighting it.

TOO HOT FOR MEETING

Board of Health Did Not Assemble.

Health Officer Ogden and Officer Burgess Presented Their Reports, and the Bills Were Presented by Clerk Bursner. Smidtbaun's Bond.

The board of health as usual failed to meet last evening.

At the appointed hour the only persons present were Clerk Bursner, Health Officer Ogden and Sanitary Policeman Burgess. They spent some time at city hall, but not one member of the board appeared, and the three officers decided to go home. There was not any business to transact, but the board should at least meet and pay bills.

There has been but two meetings of the board of health within the last year, and if it does not propose to do business it should be abolished, as there is absolutely no use in paying for some of the officers if the board hold no meetings. The claims committee have no authority to pay their bills unless the board first pass upon them.

The report of Health Officer Ogden for the month is as follows: Births, 21; deaths, 9. Causes of death—typhoid fever, 1; consumption, 1; railroad accident, 1; nervous prostration, 1. Five cases of typhoid fever were reported.

Sanitary Officer Burgess reported that he ordered five people to remove their chicken coops, made 21 verbal notices, and buried eight dogs, four cats, one rabbit and two horses.

The bills are as follows: J. H. Burgess, $50; C. B. Ogden, $25; J. H. Simms, $7.

Clerk Bursner called attention to the fact that the bond of Otto Smidtbaun was only good for 15 days and the board should instruct him to give a new bond.

PAINFULLY INJURED.

William Bradley Suffered an Accident.

William Bradley, biscuit bench boss at the china works, yesterday afternoon met with a painful accident. He was carrying a sagger on his head when it broke and cut a large gash in his nose making a painful though not serious wound. He was taken to the office of a physician where his injuries were dressed.

SMALL FIRE

Took Out the East End Department in a Hurry.

Last night between 7 and 8 o'clock a small fire occurred at the stable of the Knowles, Taylor and Anderson sewer pipe works.

The East End department was called out and made good time to the scene, but the fire had been extinguished before they arrived. The damage was slight.

GEN. SHAFTER HAS CARRIED OUTPOSTS

Spanish Compelled to Retreat Before Our Men During Heavy Fighting.

AMERICAN LOSS WAS HEAVY

General Shafter Reports That About 400 Were Killed and Wounded.

EL CANEY WAS ALSO TAKEN.

The fighting lasted from about 8 o'clock until sundown and was expected to be resumed this morning. The American troops were busy entrenching themselves after the battle. Cervera's ships turned loose their shells on the American line—ships of the American fleet bombarded vigorously—One of the wounded, whose arms were shot off and had received a wound in the hip, was brought in laughing.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The war department received the following from General Shafter, dated at Siboney, last night:

"Had a very heavy engagement today (Friday) which lasted from 8 a. m. till sundown. We have carried their outworks and are now in possession of them. There is now about three-quarters of a mile of open between my lines and the city. By morning troops will be entrenched and considerable augmentation of forces will be there. General Lawton's division and General Bates' brigade, which have been engaged all day in carrying El Caney, which was accomplished at 4 p. m., will be in line and in front of Santiago during the night. I regret to say our casualties will be above 400. Of these not many killed.

(Signed) "SHAFTER." SIBONEY, July 1, via Playa del Este, Guantanamo Bay, July 2.—About 1 o'clock this afternoon, after five hours' terrific fighting, the Spanish began to leave their entrenchments and retreat into the city. Many Americans were wounded and are being brought in. One man had both arms shot off and was wounded in the hip, but was laughing.

PLAYA DEL ESTE, Guantanamo Bay, July 1.—The fighting continued until dark. Our forces carried the enemy's outworks and have occupied them this evening. The battle will probably be resumed at daybreak.

The American loss is heavy. Some estimates place it at 500 killed and wounded.

The general assault on the city of Santiago de Cuba, by the land and sea forces of the United States, began early in the morning.

General Lawton advanced and took possession of Carbona, a suburb of Santiago.

Morro castle and the other forts at the entrance of the harbor were bombarded by our fleet. The Vesuvius used her dynamite guns with good effect.

The Spanish fleet in the harbor fired on the American troops, who were very close to the city.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—An early dispatch yesterday from General Shafter announced the engagement was on, the fighting having begun near Caney by Lawton's division.

According to General Shafter's report, the attack on Santiago was begun by the Second division of the Fifth army corps, commanded by Brigadier General H. W. Lawton. This division consists of three brigades made up as follows:

First brigade, commanded by Colonel J. J. Van Horn—Eight United States infantry, Twenty-second United States infantry and Second Massachusetts infantry.

Second brigade, commanding officer unknown, but supposed to be Colonel Bates—First United States infantry, Fourth United States infantry and Twenty-fifth United States infantry.

Third brigade, commanded by Brigadier General A. R. Chaffee—Seventh United States infantry, Twelfth United States infantry and Seventeenth United States infantry.

It thus appears that the entire division which opened the hostilities of the day is composed entirely of regular troops, seasoned and experienced in battle, with the exception of the Second Massachusetts volunteer infantry, which is regarded as one of the best volunteer organizations of the army.

General Miles received a dispatch early yesterday morning from General Shafter's headquarters, saying that the big military balloon was high in the air and was giving opportunity for observation over a great sweep of country. This in itself was of incalculable value to our troops. Brave reconnaissances had been made, but they were of little value compared to what could be seen from a balloon, a mile or more in the air, commanding a radius of observation of from 20 to 40 miles with powerful telescopes.

CHANCES OF A RETREAT.

War Department Figuring on Prospects of the Spaniards Leaving Santiago.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The military authorities here are fully considering the chances of a retreat of the Spanish army from Santiago and are endeavoring so to shape events that General Shafter's force will not only take Santiago, but will capture the 12,000 Spaniards before they get away northward to effect a juncture with General Pando. Full information as to the possible lines of retreat has been placed at the disposal of the war department.

One of the most interesting statements is that of General Manager Cox of the Spanish-American Mining company at Baiquiri, who is thoroughly acquainted with all the country surrounding Santiago. He shows that the two possible lines of retreat are: First, by the road to El Cobre; or, second, by following the line of the Sebanillo and Marato railroad. The first line will be easy for about the first ten miles, or as far as El Cobre, but after that the country is mountainous and barren and would not afford subsistence, and the pass to reach the central plateau of the island would be difficult.

The more likely line of retreat will be along the line of the above mentioned railroad, crossing the Sierra Maestra at El Cristo, a pass 600 feet above the sea ten miles north of Santiago, which is the lowest pass through the Sierra Maestra for many miles. The country back of this is a rolling plateau of rich agricultural land. It is probable that if the Spaniards retreat by this road they will make a stand on the plateau at El Cristo and hold the pass of El Cristo.

The only other pass through the mountains near this point is at Escandel summit, about six miles in a straight line east of El Cristo pass. Escandel summit is 1,200 feet above the sea and is reached from Santiago via Caney. The road from Santiago to Caney is fairly good, being wide enough for vehicles. Between Caney and Escandel the road, which is no more than a trail, ascends the mountains and is very winding and broken.

Beyond Escandel across the range the country is heavily timbered and broken and the roads are not good. It is an ideal country for ambush. This is probably the only pass through which the Spanish position could be turned should the Spanish troops occupy the Cristo plateau and pass.

The railroad has been fortified by a line of blockhouses, protecting the bridges, and certain zones of cultivation inclosed between these forts have been planted during all the time of the war and would afford a supply for the army for a certain time. In the meanwhile sweet potatoes could be planted, which, in three months, would ripen.

The zones of cultivation exist along the road as far as San Luis, at which point there is considerable country in cultivation. On the other branch (the Sabanilla branch) the zones of cultivation extend as far as Sango.

Two Victims of a Tragedy.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Vicenzo Rosano, an Italian woman about 24 years old, a bride of a week, was shot yesterday at Newark, N. J., by Giovanni Mari ghetti, a rejected suitor, and died last night in St. Michael's hospital. Mari ghetti, after the shooting, leaped from a window in the fourth floor and was so fatally hurt he died.

Train Held Up in Texas.

EL PASO, Tex., July 2.—The Texas Pacific westbound train was held up at the entrance of the lake last night at Stanton siding, near Midland, Tex. No one was hurt. Bloodhounds have been sent to the scene from Pecos and two posses from Midland are in hot pursuit.

Chicago Schoolboard Deadlocked.

CHICAGO, July 2.—The contest for the position of superintendent of Chicago's schools is still undecided. The present board of education made another ineffectual attempt to choose a superintendent last night, the votes being divided as before between Dr. E. Benjamin Andrews and Superintendent Lane. The board then adjourned sine die.

Agreement Reported Signed.

LONDON, July 2.—The Pekin correspondent of The Times says Sir Claude MacDonald, British minister to China, and Prince Ching, have signed the Wei-Hai-Wei convention.

England Annexes Islands.

LONDON, July 2.—According to a dispatch from Sydney the British cruiser Mohawk has annexed 18 islands of the Santa Cruz and Duff groups in the Pacific.

CAMARA'S FLEET.

Believed In Cairo He Will Divide It.

PART MAY GO EASTWARD.

A SCHEME FOR COAL FAILED.

It Was Intended, It Appears, to Send Coal on Local Vessels Through the Suez Canal to the Red Sea and Then Tranship to the Spanish Colliers—Not Permitted—Warships Reported to Have Put to Sea—Not a Matter of Much Concern to the U. S. Government.

CAIRO, July 2.—It is believed that part of Admiral Camara's squadron intends to proceed westward and the rest eastward. The local colliers, it appears, intended trying to go to the Red sea to tranship their coal to the Spaniards there, but this they are not permitted to do because it would be a breach of neutrality. Admiral Camara can only coal from one of his own colliers in the Red sea.

PORT SAID, July 2.—Admiral Camara's ships moved outside the harbor in order to coal from their own colliers. The San Francisco has entered the canal.

LONDON, July 2.—A dispatch to from Port Said, dated yesterday, says that the Pelayo, Emperador Carlos Quinto, Patriota, Buenos Ayres, Isla de Banay Rapido, San Francisco, Isla de Luzon and Sanitgnao de Loyola have gone to sea.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—So far as the navy department knows, the Cadiz fleet is still at Port Said unable to coal, but it is taking no chances on their course and is steadily pressing the arrangements for the dispatch to the Mediterranean of the eastern squadron under Commodore Watson. An evidence of this purpose was made visible yesterday in the packing and forwarding of boxes of charts of all the waters likely to be traversed by Watson's squadron directly to the ships off Santiago.

While there is no fear whatever of the Spanish fleet ever reaching the Philippines, even if it does go through the canal, yet the English view of the question that the American government would prefer to have Admiral Camara and his fleet keep on in the direction of the Philippines is not correct.

This fleet, sailing along the Asiatic coast, might be more or less of a menace to American commerce, and it might even get in the way of some of the transports going to and coming from the Philippines. But as long as it stays in the Mediterranean there is no danger whatever on the part of the fleet to American interests and it can easily be kept track of.

Still, it is not a matter of much concern to the government. Commodore Watson's fleet will go to the Spanish coast when it is good and ready, but that may be some time yet. It is not believed here that peace will be secured until Spain is attacked on her own coast. And before that is done the Philippine, the Caroline and Ladrones islands, as well as Porto Rico, will fly the American flag. It is possible that the Canary islands will be included in the list.

Reinforcements For Shafter.

TAMPA, Fla., July 2.—The transport Louisiana sailed from Port Tampa last Tuesday bound for Santiago with reinforcements for General Shafter. The Louisiana carried 150 recruits, under command of Captain W. H. James for General Shafter's army; the Thirty-second ambulance corps, consisting of 19 privates, 1 officer, 12 recruits, 8 horses, 2 bell horses, 40 ambulances, mules, 130 pack mules, 10 ambulances and 28 packers.

Fear Americans May Land.

MADRID, July 2.—The newspapers here express apprehension that the Americans will use the coast of Morocco as a base of supplies of coal and provisions, and they urge the Spanish government to rapidly fortify Punta Careno, Algeiras, and other strategic points in order to prevent the American soldiers from approaching the neighborhood of Gibraltar for coal, etc.

THE FOURTH IN LONDON.

Notable Englishmen Will Help Americans Celebrate.

LONDON, July 2.—The Americans in London are preparing for the greatest Fourth of July celebration, next Monday, ever given outside the United States. The principal event of the occasion will be a dinner of the American society at Hotel Cecil, which is to be attended by probably the most distinguished gathering of Englishmen that ever got together at an American banquet.

The list of acceptances includes such names as that of Marquis of Dufferin and Ava, the first diplomat of Europe; Lord Charles Beresford, the earl of Kimberly, Lord Brassey, John Morley, Lord Kinnaird, Professor James Bryce, T. P. O'Connor, the Marquis of Ripon, Professor Richard C. Jebb of Cambridge university, Rev. J. E. C. Welton, head master of Harrow; Field Marshal Sir Donald Stewart, Sir J. E. Poynter, president of the Royal academy; the bishops of London, Ripon and Rochester; the dean of Rochester, Sir Charles Evan Smith. Major General

There is only one safe road for a man to tread in the matter of health. That is the road of eternal vigilance. No man, no matter how strong he may be naturally, can with impunity neglect the little ills and indispositions of life. These little disorders are what make the big ones. When a man suffers from headaches and loss of appetite, feels drowsy and dull during waking hours, cannot sleep at night and is nervous and shaky at all times, he is in a dangerous condition. If he long neglects his condition he will find himself a very sick man. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best of all medicines for the many diseases that are caused by an impaired digestion and insufficient and improper nourishment. It creates a hearty, healthy appetite; it makes digestion and assimilation perfect; it invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and nerve tonic. It is the best of all medicines for nervous disorders and it cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption, if taken in its earlier stages, before the lungs are too far wasted. For chronic, bronchial, throat and nasal affections it is an unequalled remedy. An honest dealer will not suggest some inferior substitute.

Rev. C. M. Lemond, (P. O. Box 207), Quanah, Hardeman Co., Texas, writes: "I write to say that during the late trouble between the States it became my duty as well as privilege to speak in the open air at night, which produced slight hemorrhages and loss of voice from which I had suffered more or less for a number of years, until that God-send 'Golden Medical Discovery,' given to the world by the inventive and scientific brain of Dr. R. V. Pierce, was obtained. After six bottles had been used the pains and aches in my lungs began to give way, and now I feel that, with a judicious course of life I may live many years. I thank God for giving to the world a man who has done so much for suffering humanity."

What is it? Why, Doan's Kidney Pills! The Little Kidney Wonder-Workers. What will they do?

Read what a citizen says: Mrs. A. Searight, No. 152 High street, East End, says: "I had a severe attack of kidney disease over a year ago which confined me to my bed for about three months. It affected my entire system and while I was able to be about I never got completely rid of it. I suffered almost constantly with a dull, heavy pain across the loins; if I sat for any length of time, or did anything that brought me into a stooping position and attempted to rise, there would be a sharp shooting pain in the small of my back that felt as if a knife or other sharp instrument had pierced me. I could not sleep when I went to bed, expecting to get rest. I was often robbed of it by nervousness and pain in my back. I have risen unrefreshed and more tired and worn out than I was when I retired. I had taken so much medicine without being cured that I was discouraged. I belong to the Daughters of Liberty and the Maccabees and notified them to drop me, but they refused to do so; this made me more determined than ever to get well, as I did not want to be a burden to them. Doan's Kidney Pills presented themselves in the form of a newspaper account. I got some at the W. & W. Pharmacy. They proved to be the proper remedy for me. Their mild and gentle influence gradually reduced the pain in my back and strengthened the weakness. All the symptoms having disappeared, I rested well at night and gained in strength and weight every day. Of course I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills; it would not be right to refuse to, for the benefit of other sufferers."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name, Doan's and take no other.

There has been but two meetings of the board of health within the last year, and if it does not propose to do business it should be abolished, as there is absolutely no use in paying for some of the officers if the board hold no meetings. The claims committee have no authority to pay their bills unless the board first pass upon them.

The report of Health Officer Ogden for the month is as follows: Births, 21; deaths, 9. Causes of death—typhoid fever, 1; consumption, 1; railroad accident, 1; nervous prostration, 1. Five cases of typhoid fever were reported.

Sanitary Officer Burgess reported that he ordered five people to remove their chicken coops, made 21 verbal notices, and buried eight dogs, four cats, one rabbit and two horses.

The bills are as follows: J. H. Burgess, $50; C. B. Ogden, $25; J. H. Simms, $7.

Clerk Burner called attention to the fact that the bond of Otto Smidtbaun was only good for 15 days and the board should instruct him to give a new bond.

PAINFULLY INJURED.

William Bradley Suffered an Accident.

William Bradley, biscuit bench boss at the china works, yesterday afternoon met with a painful accident. He was carrying a saggar on his head when it broke and cut a large gash in his nose making a painful though not serious wound. He was taken to the office of a physician where his injuries were dressed.

SMALL FIRE

Took Out the East End Department in a Hurry.

Last night between 7 and 8 o'clock a small fire occurred at the stable of the Knowles, Taylor and Anderson sewer pipe works.

The East End department was called out and made good time to the scene, but the fire had been extinguished before they arrived. The damage was slight.

GEN. SHAFTER HAS CARRIED OUTPOSTS

Spanish Compelled to Retreat Before Our Men During Heavy Fighting.

AMERICAN LOSS WAS HEAVY

General Shafter Reports That About 400 Were Killed and Wounded.

EL CANEY WAS ALSO TAKEN.

The Fighting Lasted From About 8 O'clock Until Sundown and Was Expected to Be Resumed This Morning. The American Troops Were Busy Entrenching Themselves After the Battle. Cervera's Ships Turned Loose Their Shells on the American Line—Ships of the American Fleet Bombarded Vigorously—One of the Wounded, Whose Arms Were Shot Off and Had Received a Wound in the Hip, Was Brought in Laughing.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The war department received the following from General Shafter, dated at Siboney, last night: "Had a very heavy engagement today (Friday) which lasted from 8 a. m. till sundown. We have carried their outworks and are now in possession of them. There is now about three-quarters of a mile of open between my lines and the city. By morning troops will be entrenched and considerable augmentation of forces will be there. General Lawton's division and General Bates' brigade, which have been engaged all day in carrying El Caney, which was accomplished at 4 p. m., will be in line and in front of Santiago during the night. I regret to say our casualties will be above 400. Of these not many killed.

(Signed) "SHAFTER." SIBONEY, July 1, via Playa del Este, Guantanamo Bay, July 2.—About 1 o'clock this afternoon, after five hours' terrific fighting, the Spanish began to leave their entrenchments and retreat into the city. Many Americans were wounded and are being brought in. One man had had both arms shot off and was wounded in the hip, but was laughing.

PLAYA DEL ESTE, Guantanamo Bay, July 1.—The fighting continued until dark. Our forces carried the enemy's outworks and have occupied them this evening. The battle will probably be resumed at daybreak.

The American loss is heavy. Some estimates place it at 500 killed and wounded.

The general assault on the city of Santiago de Cuba, by the land and sea forces of the United States, began early in the morning.

General Lawton advanced and took possession of Caribou, a suburb of Santiago.

Morro castle and the other forts at the entrance of the harbor were bombarded by our fleet. The Vesuvius used her dynamite guns with good effect.

The Spanish fleet in the harbor fired on the American troops, who were very close to the city.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—An early dispatch yesterday from General Shafter announced the engagement was on, the fighting having begun near Caney by Lawton's division.

According to General Shafter's report, the attack on Santiago was begun by the Second division of the Fifth army corps, commanded by Brigadier General H. W. Lawton. This division consists of three brigades made up as follows:

First brigade, commanded by Colonel J. J. Van Horn—Eighth United States infantry, Twenty-second United States infantry and Second Massachusetts infantry.

Second brigade, commanding officer unknown, but supposed to be Colonel Bates—First United States infantry, Fourth United States infantry and Twenty-fifth United States infantry.

Third brigade, commanded by Brigadier General A. R. Chaffee—Seventh United States infantry, Twelfth United States infantry and Seventeenth United States infantry.

It thus appears that the entire division which opened the hostilities of the day is composed entirely of regular troops, seasoned and experienced in battle, with the exception of the Second Massachusetts volunteer infantry, which is regarded as one of the best volunteer organizations of the army.

General Miles received a dispatch early yesterday morning from General Shafter's headquarters, saying that the big military balloon was high in the air and was giving opportunity for observation over a great sweep of country. This in itself was of incalculable value to our troops. Brave reconnaissances had been made, but they were of little value compared to what could be seen from a balloon, a mile or more in the air, commanding a radius of observation of from 20 to 40 miles; with powerful telescopes.

CHANCES OF A RETREAT.

War Department Figuring on Prospects of the Spaniards Leaving Santiago.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The military authorities here are fully considering the chances of a retreat of the Spanish army from Santiago and are endeavoring so to shape events that General Shafter's force will not only take Santiago, but will capture the 12,000 Spaniards before they get away northward to effect a junction with General Pando. Full information as to the possible lines of retreat has been placed at the disposal of the war department.

One of the most interesting statements is that of General Manager Cox of the Spanish-American Mining company at Baiquiri, who is thoroughly acquainted with all the country surrounding Santiago. He shows that the two possible lines of retreat are: First, by the road to El Cobre; or, second, by following the line of the Sebanillo and Marato railroad. The first line will be easy for about the first ten miles, or as far as El Cobre, but after that the country is mountainous and barren and would not afford subsistence, and the pass to reach the central plateau of the island would be difficult.

The more likely line of retreat will be along the line of the above mentioned railroad, crossing the Sierra Maestra at El Cristo, a pass 600 feet above the sea ten miles north of Santiago, which is the lowest pass through the Sierra Maestra for many miles. The country back of this is a rolling plateau of rich agricultural land. It is probable that if the Spaniards retreat by this road they will make a stand on the plateau at El Cristo and hold the pass of El Cristo.

The only other pass through the mountains near this point is at Escandel summit, about six miles in a straight line east of El Cristo pass. Escandel summit is 1,200 feet above the sea and is reached from Santiago via Caney. The road from Santiago to Caney is fairly good, being wide enough for vehicles. Between Caney and Escandel the road, which is no more than a trail, ascends the mountains and is very winding and broken.

Beyond Escandel across the range the country is heavily timbered and broken and the roads are not good. It is an ideal country for ambush. This is probably the only pass through which the Spanish position could be turned should the Spanish troops occupy the Cristo plateau and pass.

The railroad has been fortified by a line of blockhouses, protecting the bridges, and certain zones of cultivation inclosed between these forts have been planted during all the time of the war and would afford a supply for the army for a certain time. In the meanwhile sweet potatoes could be planted, which, in three months, would ripen.

The zones of cultivation exist along the road as far as San Luis, at which point there is considerable country in cultivation. On the other branch (the Sabanilla branch) the zones of cultivation extend as far as Sango.

Two Victims of a Tragedy.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Vicenzo Rosano, an Italian woman about 24 years old, a bride of a week, was shot yesterday at Newark, N. J., by Giovanni Mari-ghetti, a rejected suitor, and died last night in St. Michael's hospital. Mari-ghetti, after the shooting, leaped from a window in the fourth floor and was so fatally hurt he died.

Train Held Up In Texas.

EL PASO, Tex., July 2.—The Texas Pacific westbound train was held up and the safe dynamited late last night at Stanton siding, near Midland, Tex. No one was hurt. Bloodhounds have been sent to the scene from Pecos and two posses from Midland are in hot pursuit.

Chicago Schoolboard Deadlocked.

CHICAGO, July 2.—The contest for the position of superintendent of Chicago's schools is still undecided. The present board of education made another ineffectual attempt to choose a superintendent last night, the votes being divided as before between Dr. E. Benjamin Andrews and Superintendent Lane. The board then adjourned sine die.

Agreement Reported Signed.

LONDON, July 2.—The Pekin correspondent of The Times says Sir Claude MacDonald, British minister to China, and Prince Ching, have signed the Wei-Hai-Wei convention.

England Annexes Islands.

LONDON, July 2.—According to a dispatch from Sydney the British cruiser Mohawk has annexed 18 islands of the Santa Cruz and Duff groups in the Pacific.

CAMARA'S FLEET.

Believed In Cairo He Will Decide It.

PART MAY GO EASTWARD.

A SCHEME FOR COAL FAILED.

It Was Intended, It Appears, to Send Coal on Local Vessels Through the Suez Canal to the Red Sea and Then Tranship to the Spanish Colliers—Not Permitted—Warships Reported to Have Put to Sea—Not a Matter of Much Concern to the U. S. Government.

CAIRO, July 2.—It is believed that part of Admiral Camara's squadron intends to proceed westward and the rest eastward. The local colliers, it appears, intended trying to go to the Red sea to tranship their coal to the Spaniards there, but this they are not permitted to do because it would be a breach of neutrality. Admiral Camara can only coal from one of his own colliers in the Red sea.

PORT SAID, July 2.—Admiral Camara's ships moved outside the harbor in order to coal from their own colliers. The San Francisco has entered the canal.

LONDON, July 2.—A dispatch to from Port Said, dated yesterday, says that the Pelayo, Emperador Carlos Quinto, Patriota, Buenos Ayres, Isla de Banay Rapido, San Francisco, Isla de Luzon and Sanitgnac de Loyola have gone to sea.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—So far as the navy department knows, the Cadiz fleet is still at Port Said unable to coal, but it is taking no chances on their course and is steadily pressing the arrangements for the dispatch to the Mediterranean of the eastern squadron under Commodore Watson. An evidence of this purpose was made visible yesterday in the packing and forwarding of boxes of charts of all the waters likely to be traversed by Watson's squadron directly to the ships off Santiago.

While there is no fear whatever of the Spanish fleet ever reaching the Philippines, even if it does go through the canal, yet the English view of the question that the American government would prefer to have Admiral Camara and his fleet keep on in the direction of the Philippines is not correct. This fleet, sailing along the Asiatic coast, might be more or less of a menace to American commerce, and it might even get in the way of some of the transports going to and coming from the Philippines. But as long as it stays in the Mediterranean there is no danger whatever on the part of the fleet to American interests and it can easily be kept track of.

Still, it is not a matter of much concern to the government. Commodore Watson's fleet will go to the Spanish coast when it is good and ready, but that may be some time yet. It is not believed here that peace will be secured until Spain is attacked on her own coast. And before that is done the Philippine, the Caroline and Ladron islands, as well as Porto Rico, will fly the American flag. It is possible that the Canary islands will be included in the list.

Reinforcements For Shafter.

TAMPA, Fla., July 2.—The transport Louisiana sailed from Port Tampa last Tuesday bound for Santiago with reinforcements for General Shafter. The Louisiana carried 150 recruits, under command of Captain W. H. James for General Shafter's army; the Thirty-second ambulance corps, consisting of 19 privates, 1 officer, 12 recruits, 8 horses, 2 bell horses, 40 ambulances, mules, 130 pack mules, 10 ambulances and 28 packers.

Fear Americans May Land.

MADRID, July 2.—The newspapers here express apprehension that the Americans will use the coast of Morocco as a base of supplies of coal and provisions, and they urge the Spanish government to rapidly fortify Punta Careno, Algeiras, and other strategic points in order to prevent the American soldiers from approaching the neighborhood of Gibraltar for coal, etc.

THE FOURTH IN LONDON.

Notable Englishmen Will Help Americans Celebrate.

LONDON, July 2.—The Americans in London are preparing for the greatest Fourth of July celebration, next Monday, ever given outside the United States. The principal event of the occasion will be a dinner of the American society at Hotel Cecil, which is to be attended by probably the most distinguished gathering of Englishmen that ever got together at an American banquet.

The list of acceptances includes such names as that of Marquis of Dufferin and Ava, the first diplomat of Europe; Lord Charles Beresford, the earl of Kimberly, Lord Brassey, John Morley, Lord Kinnaird, Professor James Bryce, T. P. O'Connor, the Marquis of Ripon, Professor Richard C. Jebb of Cambridge university, Rev. J. E. C. Welton, head master of Harrow; Field Marshal Sir Donald Stewart, Sir J. E. Poynter, president of the Royal academy; the bishops of London, Ripon and Rochester; the dean of Rochester, Sir Charles Evan Smith. Major General

The young man who starts in business life with a good athletic training back of him will be able to stand more than the man who has not had the same advantage. Nevertheless, if he overworks and neglects his health, he is likely to fall a victim to some fatal malady like his less fortunate brother.

There is only one safe road for a man to tread in the matter of health. That is the road of eternal vigilance. No man, no matter how strong he may be naturally, can with impunity neglect the little ills and indispositions of life. These little disorders are what make the big ones. When a man suffers from headaches and loss of appetite, feels drowsy and dull during waking hours, cannot sleep at night and is nervous and shaky at all times, he is in a dangerous condition. If he long neglects his condition he will find himself a very sick man. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best of all medicines for the many diseases that are caused by an impaired digestion and insufficient and improper nourishment. It creates a hearty, healthy appetite, it makes digestion and assimilation perfect; it invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and nerve tonic. It is the best of all medicines for nervous disorders and it cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption, if taken in its earlier stages, before the lungs are too far wasted. For chronic, bronchial, throat and nasal affections it is an unequalled remedy. An honest dealer will not suggest some inferior substitute.

Rev. C. M. Lemond, (P. O. Box 207), Quanah, Hardeman Co., Texas, writes: "I write to say that during the late trouble between the States it became my duty as well as privilege to speak in the open air at night, which produced slight hemorrhages and loss of voice from which I had suffered more or less for a number of years, until that God-send 'Golden Medical Discovery' given to the world by the inventive and scientific brain of Dr. R. V. Pierce, was obtained. After six bottles had been used the pains and aches in my lungs began to give way, and now I feel that, with a judicious course of life I may live many years. I thank God for giving to the world a man who has done so much for suffering humanity."

DONE SO QUIETLY.

East Liverpool People Are Surprised—Like a Ray of Sunshine to Many a Home.

It comes like a ray of sunshine. Makes the old folks happy. And the young folks joyful. Takes the load off the back. It is all done so quietly. No fuss about it. What is it? Why, Doan's Kidney Pills! The Little Kidney Wonder-Workers. What will they do? Read what a citizen says: Mrs. A. Seagriff, No. 152 High street, East End, says: "I had a severe attack of kidney disease over a year ago which confined me to my bed for about three months. It affected my entire system and while I was able to be about I never got completely rid of it. I suffered almost constantly with a dull, heavy pain across the loins; if I sat for any length of time, or did anything that brought me into a stooping position and attempted to rise, there would be a sharp shooting pain in the small of my back that felt as if a knife or other sharp instrument had pierced me. I could not sleep when I went to bed, expecting to get rest. I was often robbed of it by nervousness and pain in my back. I have risen unrefreshed and more tired and worn out than I was when I retired. I had taken so much medicine without being cured that I was discouraged. I belong to the Daughters of Liberty and the Maccabees and notified them to drop me, but they refused to do so; this made me more determined than ever to get well, as I did not want to be a burden to them. Doan's Kidney Pills presented themselves in the form of a newspaper account. I got some at the W. & W. Pharmacy. They proved to be the proper remedy for me. Their mild and gentle influence gradually reduced the pain in my back and strengthened the weakness. All the symptoms having disappeared, I rested well at night and gained in strength and weight every day. Of course I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills; it would not be right to refuse to, for the benefit of other sufferers." Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name, Doan's and take no other.

Other eminent Englishmen who were unable to accept the invitation of the American society have sent letters of regret, which will be read at the banquet, expressing the most cordial feeling for the United States on the anniversary of the Declaration of Independence.

J. L. Taylor, president of the American society, has still another Fourth of July celebration in hand, for he addresses a Congregational union of Stepaney on Sunday on the subject of the "American War for Independence."

Students Are Suspended.

DELAWARE, O., July 2.—The faculty of the Ohio Wesleyan university has notified about 25 students that they may return home under rules of suspension. Many of them are in the city attending the summer session trying to make up some extra work, but they were released of that duty on "improper conduct," which embraces, as it is understood, card playing, drinking and carousing.

Bicycle Accident Without Serious Results. Another Building at the Mill. Services in the Churches—All the News of Wellsville.

Mayor Dennis wound up his week's work by clearing Wellsville of four individuals who will spend the Fourth and a number of other days breaking stones or making brooms in Canton. The party were taken this morning by Chief Duncan, and some of them, it is probable, will not return to this place, while others cannot come until the heated term has spent its force.

William Downard, who was arrested on the complaint of his son, was fined $15 and costs, but William didn't have the price of liberty and got 30 days.

James Murray and Annie Marshall, whose deeds have not been in accordance with the law, were also a little short and were placed in line for the trip.

John Patterson, the bartender at Martin's saloon whose name is not unknown in Wellsville, got $25 and costs for illegal liquor selling. John has not been prosperous, it seems, and he too got a sentence.

This business cleaned the docket and the jail was empty.

Second street was a very warm place last night, the row being caused by an Allegheny woman who was in search of her husband.

It seems the man came here to see a "lady" friend, and the wife followed. She located him and there was war. At length he agreed to return with her, and he did, but not before their affairs were aired in a sharp verbal battle at the station.

Bicycle Accident.

Last evening about 8 o'clock Miss Lonie Hill was riding a tandem wheel with her father. In crossing the street car line on Main street at Tenth the front handles became loose and the front wheel hit the curb with such violence that Miss Hill was thrown off. No more serious results than a general shaking up followed.

More Improvements.

Another important improvement will be made at the rolling mill, where Manager Everson is already keeping an eye on the force employed.

It will be a building 30x60, built of iron, and intended to contain the big shears and used as a trimming room. It will occupy the space west of the main building.

"REMEMBER THE MAINE."

Monday being the great holiday there will be no issue of the News Review.

ARE Shafter and his men at Santiago
 to repeat the performances of Meade at Gettysburg and Grant at Vicksburg?

COMPARE patriotic William McKinley with the peculiar Grover Cleveland, and there is little time wasted in deciding which is the statesman.

If there is glory to be had in this campaign General Shafter is going to have it. At least he is working hard enough to attain that end.

THIS war is costing the government
 about $2,000,000 a day, yet Uncle Sam seems able to pay the bill and still have a few pennies in his pocket.

THE Spaniards at Santiago would have had a hard time of it indeed had it not been for their defenses, made in the main of American wire.

GERMANY'S friendship for Spain is certainly born of some selfish motive.
 The warlike William is not prone to acts of kindness and charity.

MR. CLEVELAND and Colonel Bryan
 are very anxious to say this country should not maintain dominion over any territory we may capture, but the gentlemen have not yet explained what we are to do with it. Perhaps, if they should succeed in solving that portion of the problem, the country will listen to their wall of anguish.

SEND THE FLEET.

The News Review has no desire to pose as an authority on strategy, but it believes the government can do no better than carry the war to Spain. Let Commodore Watson knock the old castles of the miserable old country to pieces, and it will not be long until the dons are ready to sue for peace. The learned newspaper writers who hope the administration will not endanger the success
 of this country by such a "blunder," certainly have no ground on which to base the statement.

THE SAME OLD CRY.

The United States has been called upon a number of times to decide whether it should extend its borders by annexing this or that piece of territory,
 and the projects have always been met with the same kind of resistance heard in these days of trial. There have ever been men to object, but their objections have been overthrown, and who is there to say the country has not been benefitted? Conservatism is a commendable trait, but there are times when it is a close companion of cowardice.

CELEBRATE THE FOURTH.

To make the celebration of next Monday a complete success all the people must join heartily in the spirit of the occasion. The flying of an enormous flag from the peak of the tallest staff in Columbiana county is an event not to be passed as commonplace, and when it is remembered that thousands of brave
 boys are far from home fighting bravely to maintain the national honor and to place our colors where they will fly among those representing the power and glory of centuries, the day becomes one that is indeed unusual.

TWENTY MINUTES OF WORK

The Board of Education Had a Warm
 Time of It and After Removing Coats
 Looked After a Few Affairs—Contractors
 Gave Notice.

It was 8:40 last evening when President Vodrey called the board of education to order. Those present were Messrs. Vodrey, Hill, Peach, Norris, Williams and Murphy. Several members took off their coats and business was quickly attended to. The meeting was opened by Mr. Murphy reading
 the scriptures and offering prayer.

The minutes of the last meeting were approved.

A letter was received from the Johnson company of Pittsburg stating their representative would be present at the meeting of July 18.

Bids from Arbuckle & Co., and William K. Gillespie, of Pittsburg, for janitor's supplies were read. The bids were for brooms, mops, washing powder and soap. The clerk was instructed to ask for quotations from broom manufacturers in Salineville and Wellsville.

A letter from Miss Gardner thanking
 the board for an increase in her salary was read.

Mr. Peach thought the sidewalks surrounding the West End school should be paved. The improvement will cost about $75, and the board ordered Mr.
 Peach to see that it was paved.

Clerk Norris was instructed to purchase enough revenue stamps that would be deemed necessary for transacting the school business.

The meeting then adjourned, after being in session 20 minutes.

LITTLE CHANGE.

Potteries East and West Continue
 Active.

China, Glass and Lamps in reporting
 the condition of trade says:

"The potteries are quite active both east and west, and encouraging reports reach us from the west and south about stimulated demand in all kinds of pottery products. Dinner ware, both plain and decorated, has rarely been better for a decade past, and restaurant ware has a large and steady trade, the west and south showing up especially strong in these lines. The trade in the east is largely confined to the better class of fine decorated dinner ware, specialties
 and toilet ware, while novelties are having a good demand from every section of the country, and this class of small ware, handsomely modeled and artist-ically decorated, and put on the market at exceedingly low prices, is growing in favor daily and has become a distinctive feature in American pottery products."

ALL SHUT DOWN.

No Work in the Potteries For a Few Weeks.

Every pottery in town will be closed
 this evening, and no work will be done for several weeks at the majority of plants. Some will be in operation one week from Monday, but they are the exception, although within two weeks from that time will see all at work.

While trade has not been what it should be, orders are becoming more plentiful during the past few weeks and predictions for a large fall trade are heard on every hand. Preparations are being made for it, and not a pottery in town will be without a number of new shapes and decorations. It is generally believed the demand for Liverpool ware will be greater than at any time in the history of the country.

ROASTED THE DOCTOR.

Health Officer Ogden Smiled Just the Same.

Doctor Ogden this week received a postal card without any signature that called attention to the condition of several lots in Third street.

The card is not signed, and after calling attention to a few sanitary matters,
 is as follows:

"Doctor Ogden what is the reason you
 don't attend to your duty go down 4 st.
 or give up office its a Shame Such health
 officers."

The health official had a hearty laugh over it, as the places mentioned are in the best possible sanitary condition.

 Green, pastor—11 a. m., "Heil, the Bethelite;" 8 p. m., "Will Your Life's Work Stand?"

THE SQUIRREL LAW

The Animals Cannot Be Shot Until
 July 4.

A number of sportsmen have been making inquiries as to when the law allows the killing of squirrels, some believing July 1 to be the day.

The statute as amended by the last
 legislature says:

"No dove, woodcock or squirrel shall be shot until July 4 or after Dec. 15. The season prior to that time was from Sept.
 1 to Dec. 15."

VERY HOT.

A Number of People Have Been Prostrated.

The heat yesterday was intense, and there was very little change today.

Thermometers in some parts of town registered 92 degrees in the shade, and in the sun the heat was such as to make bodily effort dangerous.

One street contractor says that three of his men were compelled to give up early in the afternoon. No serious cases have been reported.

We are now prepared to do all kinds of tile work, having in our employ a first class workman with experience in this line of work. The Eagle Hardware Co.

The Wild West.

Great crowds attended the afternoon
 and evening performances yesterday of Pawnee Bill's Grand Wild West Exhibition. The show is good throughout, and gives a picture of life on the plains such as can be obtained in no other show or way. Its many features are greatly applauded, and the show is well worth a visit.—Philadelphia, Pa., Daily Ledger.

At Spring Grove.

A large number of people will move to the camp ground next week.

Quits have become a favorite game, and N. T. Ashbaugh is ready to meet all comers.

Miss Flo Updegraff and Miss Ruth Rigby are the guests of Mrs. Lawrence Thomas.

The dormitory will be opened next week.

Hardwood mantels with tile complete now on display in our mantel room second floor at The Eagle Hardware Co.

SHAFTER WANTS MEDICAL AID

Grave Fears Are Entertained In Washington That First Reports Will Be Swelled Before All Is Known—A Spanish Steamer Attempted to Run the Blockade.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—[Special]—Grave fears are entertained this morning that the loss sustained by General Shafter's army yesterday is greatly in excess of the 400 killed and wounded reported last night. Military men say the close fighting and the large forces engaged could not but result in the death or injury of a large number of men.

The estimates are many, but from information which reached the department before noon it was believed the loss would amount in killed and wounded to 1,000. Information from other sources prompts the same estimate.

General Shafter wired to the department that he feared our loss had been greatly underestimated, and asked that a hospital ship be sent immediately. He gave no estimate of the loss, but the fact that he has asked for medical aid causes uneasiness.

A special from Siboney, received at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, estimates the American loss at Santiago at 1000 killed and wounded.

ANOTHER PRIZE.

A Spanish Steamer Attempted to Leave Havana.

KEY WEST, July 2.—[Special]—The Spanish steamer Benito Estenger, and a Spanish sloop have been brought here, having been captured while endeavoring to run the blockade off Havana.

DICK HATTON'S SUCCESS.

He Has Been Promoted to Paymaster.

Lieutenant Dick Hatton, whose letter in the NEWS REVIEW the other evening described so graphically the fighting at Guantanamo bay, has, according to yesterday's New York Herald, been made full paymaster in the navy, with the rank of lieutenant commander. No reason for the promotion is assigned, but his volunteering for shore duty when it required brave men to do the desperate work is believed by his friends in this city to be the cause and by Ensign Dohrman, of Steubenville, has been assigned for duty on the Chicago. The vessel goes into commission in a few days.

TOWNSHIP LINE PICNIC.

It Will Be Held August 18 and Be Addressed by Great Men.

It has been officially announced by the committee in charge that the Township Line picnic will this year be held August 18 at the grounds so well known to almost everyone in this section.

It is also stated that men of national reputation have been secured to address the people, and the harvest home picnic will be among the best the association has ever conducted.

PROGRAM AT THE DIAMOND

An Abundance of Music and Oratory Provided For the Occasion—Details of the Flag Raising Next Monday—Sports In the Afternoon.

The arrangements for the Fourth of July celebration have all been completed, and it promises to be one of the largest in the history of the city.

The flag pole was erected in the Diamond this morning, and is now ready for the flag raising, while two car loads of fire works arrived today and will be left on the siding until Monday afternoon. A large box arrived by express last evening. Martin Pier, who will have charge of them, arrived this morning.

The work of seating the wharf will be commenced Monday morning while the platform in the Diamond will be built today.

The committee desire that everybody decorate their places of business and residences and assist in making the day one of the most successful in the history of the city.

The parade will form in Fourth street at 9 a. m. in the following order:

- City police, in platoons.
- Brass band.
- Grand army.
- Speakers in carriages.
- Drum corps.
- Sons of Veterans.
- Sons of Veterans' firing squad.
- American Mechanics.
- Junior Mechanics.
- Brass band.
- City council and officials, in carriages.
- Fire department.
- Trades council.
- Drum corps.
- Patriotic and secret orders.
- Brass band.
- Rough Riders.
- Brass band.
- Cuban bull fighters.

The parade will march from Fourth street to the Diamond, where the following program will be rendered:

- Music.....Four Bands
- "America".....School Children
- Address.....Hon. R. W. Taylor
- "Star Spangled Banner".....
- Four Bands with chorus by all present.
- Raising of "Old Glory."

In the afternoon the sports will take place at Columbian park, under the direction of the Brotherhood, and at 8:30 o'clock in the evening, at the foot of Broadway, the grandest display of fireworks ever shown in this section will take place under the personal direction of Nordlinger, Charlton Co., of New York. Free seats will be provided for ladies and children, while a band will play patriotic airs from the roof of the wharfboat.

The barges will be anchored close enough to shore that all may see the fireworks display.

The committee asks that the Grand Army will meet at 8 o'clock sharp without uniform, badges only, to take part in the demonstration. All comrades and other old soldiers are cordially invited to be present.

The Diamond was roped off today while the pole was being erected and passengers on the street cars had to be transferred. While the pole was going up it started to lean toward the west part of the Diamond, and there was a general rush of the people to get out of the way. The pole leaned at least six inches but the workmen managed to keep it from going over.

IT WAS ONLY A FAKE

No Fight at Line Island Last Night.

SOME DISAPPOINTED SPORTS

They Spent Hours Waiting For the Principals to Come Together, But There Was Not Much Money In the Crowd and They Quietly Slipped Away.

To fight or not to fight was the question that was being debated by Jack Bates and Mike Farragher on Line island at 1 o'clock this morning.

Several weeks ago Farragher and Bates arranged for a finish fight, and since that time Farragher has been training in this city. The newspapers were requested not to say anything about the affair until after the fight was over. Farragher's manager, a Mr. O'Mally, had made all arrangements.

At the riverbank below the Martin farm were tied a number of skiffs, and for 25 cents one could be ferried to the island. At the island a rope 50 feet long was on the ground, and a pair of boxing gloves on a bench. Farragher and his friends were talking several yards from the ring. About 100 men had gathered to witness the affair but they came home a sad lot.

When the reporters were talking with Farragher he told them the fight would be pulled off in a short time, naming from 30 minutes to an hour as the time. The reporters then walked over the entire island looking for Bates but he could not be located. O'Mally, the manager of Farragher was also missing. It was learned that the fight would take place, not on these grounds, but nearby. This was done that those without money would be left behind.

Time rolled on, and Farragher and his men were seen to enter a skiff and start for the Ohio side. Reporters followed him, but he was soon on his way to Liverpool.

O'Malley was seen coming down the path from the railroad, but professed ignorance of any knowledge that the fight had not taken place. He took a skiff, and at the island he secured lights and rope and started down the river.

Inquiry was made this morning as to the reason the fight did not take place, but nobody seemed to know anything about it. Manager O'Malley could not be found today, and his side of it could not be learned. At the island last night the prevailing reason for no fight was that no money had been posted. At the National House this morning Farragher said "the sheriff" was after him. Several other reasons were heard, but nothing definite was learned.

Farragher could not be seen this morning, and it was said he left town last night.

Bates has kept himself in seclusion if he is in the city, and his side of the affair may never be known.

O'Mally and Farragher were still in town this afternoon.

WE WON AT SHARON

After a Hot Game of Fourteen Innings.

FIVE RUNS THE VERY BEST

Our Boys Could Score, but They Were Enough to Make It an Eventful Game. Carey Has Been Released by Louisville.

The East Liverpool ball team yesterday played a 14 inning game at Sharon, which they won.

A dispatch from Sharon to a morning paper says: "Sharon and East Liverpool played one of the best games ever seen on the home grounds, which was won by the latter team after 14 innings of brilliant fielding. East Liverpool scored the winning run through an error by O'Day and one by Maher. Both pitchers were effective and had good control of the ball."

The score of the game is as follows:

E. Liverpool—20010000100001—5 11 3
Sharon—20000011000000—4 14 8
Batteries—Bridgett, McAleese and McAleese; McShane and Davis.

John Goodwin and George McNicol left today for Rochester, where they are playing with the local team against the Imperials, of Pittsburgh.

George Carey has been released by Louisville, and can now sign with Minneapolis or any other team he desires. Letcher is still covering first for Minneapolis, but is not doing as good work as did Carey.

Washington correspondent Sporting Life says:

"Mercer is doing his share of the work, and his hitting has been one of the happy features of the in and out work of the team."

Dick Padden yesterday had three errors at second for Pittsburgh.

GROUND BUT NO MONEY.

That Is Why Some Factories Have Not Been Built.

"Liverpool would have a number of new industries well under way by this time if some of the land companies had decided to give money instead of land," said a well-known resident.

"The people are from points out of the city and they want to enter the pottery business, but they would consent to nothing but money and land. I know one company that turned down offers for two six-kiln plants. The sentiment is to offer land, but Liverpool promoters have no money for new concerns."

ENCOURAGING RETURNS.

Dun's Review Speaks of the Favorable Closing of the Second Quarter of the Year.

NEW YORK, July 2.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, says in part: The second quarter of the year closed with most encouraging returns. Failures have been a little larger than in the first quarter of the year, whereas a decrease of 6.2 per cent might have been expected from experience of the past ten years, but with that allowance a difference of only $3,500,000 can be charged to war and fears of war, whereas solvent payments through clearinghouses for the quarter were over $15,600,000,000.

The exports of wheat continue extraordinary. The market has been a little weaker, which is natural with abundant evidence of the enormous yield notwithstanding all reports of injury, but cash wheat has advanced to 85 cents. Corn has declined a fraction, although the demand for export is still beyond all precedent.

The demand for wool has been almost wholly confined to needs for orders in hand, and yet there is good reason to look for a better demand for goods as soon as the season opened, while with government contracts more than the usual proportion of machinery is employed, even at this dull season. Sales of wool have been only 3,011,200 pounds for the week at the three chief markets, and for the month 10,193,300 pounds, against 41,197,000 a year ago and 29,595,000 pounds in 1892.

The iron industry shows some decline in prices in Bessemer pig at Pittsburgh to $10.25, and in grey forge to $9 with only $11 here and $11.25 at Philadelphia for No. 1 anthracite, while shipments during the week have been made from Birmingham to Hamburg, Rotterdam, Great Britain, Australia and Japan, though in the aggregate not large. But contracts for 12,000 tons of steel rails have been placed at Chicago, and pending contract there for structural work are estimated at 25,000 tons.

In general it may be said that the markets west of Philadelphia are remarkably strong, with scarcely any indication of decline in the demand for finished products.

Failures for the week have been 254 in the United States, against 241 last year, and 15 in Canada, against 30 last year.

A BRUTAL CRIME.

Three Tramps Threw a Man From a Train Near Conneaut.

ASHTABULA, O., July 2.—William Rising of Lockport, N. Y., was thrown from a Lake Erie train near Conneaut station yesterday morning and killed, his head being mashed by the wheels. The conductor of the train says that the deed was done by three tramps, who were also on the train. Officers are searching for the murderers. The body of Rising, whose identity was learned from papers on his person, is being held at Conneaut awaiting the arrival of relatives.

The Public Debt.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The monthly statement of the public debt shows that at the close of business Thursday the debt less cash in the treasury amounted to $1,027,085,492, a decrease during the month of $10,688,268. This decrease is accounted for by a corresponding increase in the amount of cash on hand.

HE WAS A HUMBBUG.

His Wife Was Disgusted When She Learned the Author of the Article.

Scribbler had come home from the office in the evening quite "played out," because of the output of his pen and brain that day. He was lying on the couch in the sitting room after supper, when Mrs. Scribbler, who had been reading a magazine, said:

"See here, George Scribbler, here is something that fits you to a T, and I want you to read it."

"What's it about?"
"It's about these funny kind of men who must have everything just so in their homes, no matter how hard it makes it for others. You know that you are one of the funniest men alive. Every rug and chair and book must be exactly in its place, and a little dust sets you to scolding. You must have a clean napkin every meal, and you cannot eat if there is a tiny spot on the tablecloth, and everything must be served just exactly so or you get grumpy. Now, is not that true?"

"A man likes to see things in order in his own house," said Scribbler.

"Of course he does, and I try to keep things in order, but I defy any woman to maintain the degree of order you expect with four or five children in the house. Now, this article refers to just such unreasonable, fussy men as you are, and it is not one bit too severe even when it says that they are small spirited and lacking in true manliness. I do wish that you would read the article."

"I don't need to," replied Scribbler, sitting up to stretch and groan.

"I'd like to know why you do not need to read it, George Scribbler?"

"Because—well, the fact is, my dear, I wrote that article myself."—Denver Post.

Summer in Colorado.

Colorado is particularly inviting as a summer haven. The climate is remarkable for its invigorating effect, and the state is rich in grand scenery and points of interest where a vacation may be pleasantly spent. Special arrangements are being made for the entertainment of visitors who are this season expected to be attracted to the seclusion and quiet of the Rockies and the hills and canyons of that great wonderland.

Colorado today is nearer home than in former years. The fast schedules of the Pennsylvania route and connecting lines bring the centennial state within easy reach, and the cost of a trip thither is no longer a luxury. The special low rate tourist tickets over the Pennsylvania lines places the cost for transportation within the limit of the usual allowance for vacation trips. For special information about rates, time of trains and other details please apply to nearest Pennsylvania lines ticket agent or address J. K. Dillon, D. P. agt., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Summer Havens.

Illustrated information about America's popular summer resorts is being distributed by passenger and ticket agents of the Pennsylvania Lines. It includes descriptions of leading places of summer sojourn along the ocean, in the mountains of the east, and in the lake region and Northern Michigan, all of which are within easy reach over the Pennsylvania route. For a copy please apply to the nearest Pennsylvania lines ticket agent, or address your requests to J. K. Dillon, district passenger agent, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Fourth of July Excursions.

July 2d, 3d and 4th excursion tickets, at one fare for the round trip, will be sold account 4th of July festivities via Pennsylvania lines; return coupons good until Tuesday, July 5th, inclusive.

UNION LABELS.

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others?

The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent working hours, and union labor employed.

PATRONIZE UNION CLERKS.

All members of the R. C. N. P. A. can show this card. Ask for it when making your purchases. Endorsed by the A. F. of L.

COLOR IS CHANGED EACH QUARTER.

Good only during month named in lower left hand corner and when properly signed, and STAMPED with the number of the Local.

UNION MADE BOOTS AND SHOES.

The Boot and Shoe Workers' union is the national head of the trade, and is a new combination of all the branches of boot and shoe workers. The above trade-mark when found on the sole or lining of a boot or shoe is a guarantee that the same is made by union labor. Look for the above design stamped on the sole of every pair of boots or shoes you buy.

CUSTOM TAILORS' LABEL.

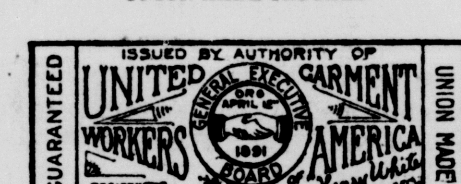

The Journeymen Tailor's Label is to be found in the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the under side of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants. It is printed in black ink on white linen.

UNION MADE HATS.

This Label is about an inch and a half square, and is printed on buff-colored paper. It is placed on every union made hat before it leaves the workman's hands. If a dealer takes a label from one hat and places it in another, or has any detached labels in his store, do not buy from him, as his labels may be counterfeit, and his hats may be the product of scab or non-union labor.

UNION MADE CLOTHES.

You will find the linen label attached by machine stitching to the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the inside of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants.

BICYCLE LABEL.

"Do unto others as ye would that others should do unto you." You will endorse the "Golden Rule" by buying and riding bicycles bearing this label. The colors are as follows: The Union shield is in red, white and blue, on a background of pea green, bordered by gold.

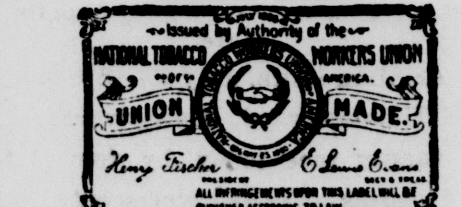

The Label will be placed on the upper front side of the tube that receives the seat post.

BLUE LABEL CIGARS.

This label is printed in black ink on light blue paper, and is pasted on the cigar-box on the box, as the latter is nearly of a similar color.

TOBACCO LABEL.

The above Label, printed on blue paper, will be found on all plug tobacco and on the wrappers of chewing tobacco manufactured in union tobacco factories.

UNION BREAD AND CRACKERS.

This is a full size facsimile of the Label of the Bakers' and Confectioners' union. It is printed on fine white paper and is pasted on each loaf of union-made bread. It is evidence that the bread is made under fair and wholesome conditions and in clean and healthy bakeries. Following is the confectioners' and cracker Label:

WE WON AT SHARON

After a Hot Game of Fourteen Innings.

FIVE RUNS THE VERY BEST

Our Boys Could Score, but They Were Enough to Make It an Eventful Game. Carey Has Been Released by Louisville.

The East Liverpool ball team yesterday played a 14 inning game at Sharon, which they won.

A dispatch from Sharon to a morning paper says: "Sharon and East Liverpool played one of the best games ever seen on the home grounds, which was won by the latter team after 14 innings of brilliant fielding. East Liverpool scored the winning run through an error by O'Day and one by Maher. Both pitchers were effective and had good control of the ball."

The score of the game is as follows:

E. Liverpool—20010000100001—5 11 3
Sharon—20000011000000—4 14 8
Batteries—Bridgett, McAleese and McAleese; McShane and Davis.

John Goodwin and George McNicol left today for Rochester, where they are playing with the local team against the Imperials, of Pittsburg.

George Carey has been released by Louisville, and can now sign with Minneapolis or any other team he desires. Letcher is still covering first for Minneapolis, but is not doing as good work as did Carey.

Washington correspondent Sporting Lifesays:

"Mercer is doing his share of the work, and his hitting has been one of the happy features of the in and out work of the team."

Dick Padden yesterday had three errors at second for Pittsburg.

GROUND BUT NO MONEY.

That Is Why Some Factories Have Not Been Built.

"Liverpool would have a number of new industries well under way by this time if some of the land companies had decided to give money instead of land," said a well-known resident.

Every rug and chair and book must be exactly in its place, and a little dust sets you to scolding. You must have a clean napkin every meal, and you cannot eat if there is a tiny spot on the tablecloth, and everything must be served just exactly so or you get grumpy. Now, is not that true?"

"A man likes to see things in order in his own house," said Scribbler.

"Of course he does, and I try to keep things in order, but I defy any woman to maintain the degree of order you expect with four or five children in the house. Now, this article refers to just such unreasonable, fussy men as you are, and it is not one bit too severe even when it says that they are small spirited and lacking in true manliness. I do wish that you would read the article."

"I don't need to," replied Scribbler, sitting up to stretch and groan.

"I'd like to know why you do not need to read it, George Scribbler?"

"Because—well, the fact is, my dear, I wrote that article myself."—Denver Post.

Summer in Colorado.

Colorado is particularly inviting as a summer haven. The climate is remarkable for its invigorating effect, and the state is rich in grand scenery and points of interest where a vacation may be pleasantly spent. Special arrangements are being made for the entertainment of visitors who are this season expected to be attracted to the seclusion and quiet of the Rockies and the hills and canyons of that great wonderland.

Colorado today is nearer home than in former years. The fast schedules of the Pennsylvania route and connecting lines bring the centennial state within easy reach, and the cost of a trip thither is no longer a luxury. The special low rate tourist tickets over the Pennsylvania lines places the cost for transportation within the limit of the usual allowance for vacation trips. For special information about rates, time of trains and other details please apply to nearest Pennsylvania lines ticket agent or address J. K. Dillon, D. P. agt., Pittsburg, Pa.

UNION LABELS.

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others?

The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent working hours, and union labor employed.

PATRONIZE UNION CLERKS.

All members of the R. C. N. P. A. can show this card. Ask for it when making your purchases. Endorsed by the A. F. of L.

COLOR IS CHANGED EACH QUARTER.

Good only during months named in lower left hand corner and when properly signed, and STAMPED with the number of the Local.

UNION MADE BOOTS AND SHOES.

The Boot and Shoe Workers' union is the national head of the trade, and is a new combination of all the branches of boot and shoe workers. The above trade-mark will be found on the sole or lining of a boot or shoe, is a guarantee that the same is made by union labor. Look for the above design stamped on the sole of every pair of boots or shoes you buy.

CUSTOM TAILORS' LABEL.

The Journeymen Tailor's Label is to be found in the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the under side of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants. It is printed in black ink on white linen.

UNION MADE HATS.

This Label is about an inch and a half square, and is printed on buff-colored paper. It is placed on every union made hat before it leaves the workman's hands. If a dealer takes a label from one hat and places it in another, or has any detached labels in his store, do not buy from him, as his labels may be counterfeited, and his hats may be the product of scab or non-union labor.

UNION MADE CLOTHES.

You will find the linen label attached by machine stitching to the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the inside of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants.

BICYCLE LABEL.

"Do unto others as ye would that others should do unto you." You will endorse the "Golden Rule" by buying and riding bicycles bearing this Label. The colors are as follows: The Union shield is in red, white and blue, on a background of pea green, bordered by gold. The Label will be placed on the upper front side of the tube that receives the seat post.

BLUE LABEL CIGARS.

This label is printed in black ink on light blue paper, and is pasted on the cigar-box. Don't mix it up with the U. S. revenue label on the box, as the latter is nearly of a similar color.

TOBACCO LABEL.

UNION BREAD AND CRACKERS.

This is a full size facsimile of the Label of the Bakers' and Confectioners' union. It is printed on fine white paper and is pasted on each loaf of union-made bread. It is an evidence that the bread is made under fair and wholesome conditions, and in clean and healthy bakeries. Following is the confectioners' and cracker Label:

WAITING FOR A CALL

General Garretson's Men Are Anxious.

COLONELS WERE ALL CALLED

And Notified to Have Their Men Ready to Move at an Hour's Notice - Private Halloway Is Unfit For Campaign Duty.

The Camp Alger correspondent of the Pittsburg Dispatch again has something to say of a contemplated movement. Whether his information is correct remains to be seen. It follows;

General Garretson summoned his three colonels before him this afternoon. Col. C. V. Hard, of the Eighth Ohio, and Colonel Foster, of the Sixth Illinois, were told that all of the Buckeye boys and half of the western command must be ready to move within an hour of receiving orders.

No word has reached the camp as to the whereabouts of the cruiser Yale. It was not until late this evening that the commissary would issue any more rations to the Eighth Ohio, as he expected them to move. Finally three days' rations were distributed. The boys expect to be routed out of bed tonight.

The heat was tropically phenomenal in camp today. In the coolest place, the First division hospital, the government thermometers showed 101½ degrees in the shade. In the wall tents among the regiments it ranged from 104 to 106, and in the open the mercury went to 120 degrees. General Graham gave orders to suspend all labor not absolutely necessary, and that the men be kept out of the sun as much as possible.

There is a good deal of bowel complaint among all the commands, and the doctors are alarmed at the spread of typhoid fever. Three men from the New York cavalry and two from the One Hundred and Fifty-ninth Indiana are affected now. All have been rushed to Fort Myer hospital. Measles is also prevalent.

In Garretson's brigade discharges are being issued to all the men physically unfit for campaigning. Private Halloway, of Company E, will go on account of physical disability. From Company H, Sergeant Campbell and Private Brown will be released. From the Sixth Illinois six men have been released. Three officers have resigned from the Sixth Massachusetts on the eve of departure, and the regiment is very angry about two of the officers, openly imputing a backdown. In the Eighth Ohio several cases occurred today in which men applied for discharges and the doctors said there was nothing the matter with them. These men are now busy explaining to their comrades.

Each company in the regiments of Garretson's brigade have been equipped with 16 picks and 16 shovels, and the three regiments are on a war basis.

A big bathhouse under a regular circuit has been erected close to the Eighth Ohio camp. Lieutenant Colonel Dick is not with the regiment yet, but is ready to join as soon as the order comes to go.

A SENSATION
Would Have Resulted Had the Case Come to Trial.

The friends of a well-known young man of this city are congratulating him because he narrowly escaped being involved in a nasty scandal.

The husband of the woman in the case learned of his attentions, and had arranged to sue for divorce, bringing the young man's name often into the petition, and placing him in an unenviable light. Friends learned of the matter, and after several weeks of hard work succeeded in effecting a settlement, damages being paid. The amount is not known.

AFTER OFFICE.
A Number of Local Republicans Want Jobs.

The announcement that President McKinley would revoke the order, whereby a great many offices in the postal and interior departments were placed under the civil service law, has aroused a number of local politicians, and it is said East Liverpool will be after places.

Deputy collectorships under Frank McCord seem to be the specialty, and he will get many applications from this section.

SPOKE FOR ANNEXATION.

Pettus, an Alabama Democrat, Favored It in a Speech in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—For nearly six hours yesterday the senate had under discussion the Hawaiian annexation resolutions. The first formal speech in favor of the resolutions was delivered by Mr. Pettus (Dem., Ala.). His address was strong and patriotic. As a Democrat he maintained that the question was in no sense a party issue, but the proposition was one which ought to command, under the circumstances, the support of men of all parties.

He had a heated colloquy with Mr. Caffery (Dem., La.), in the course of which the latter intimated that the Alabama senator was afflicted with senility. Mr. Pettus' retort was vigorous and resentful of what he termed an insult. Mr. Caffery subsequently disclaimed any intention of insulting Mr. Pettus.

Mr. Mallory (Dem., Fla.) presented a constitutional argument against the acquisition of territory by joint resolution of congress.

Some New Nominations.
WASHINGTON, July 2.—Among the nominations sent by the president yesterday to the senate were: Charles A. Bosworth, assistant treasurer of the United States at Cincinnati. Pennsylvania postmasters—John C. McKean, Charleroi; J. F. Nicholson, Monongahela; Allen F. Dickey, Waynesburg.

Assistant Secretary to President.
WASHINGTON, July 2.—President McKinley yesterday appointed George Bruce Cortelyou of New York assistant secretary to the president, to fill the additional position of that grade recently created by congress. For nearly three years Mr. Cortelyou has been the chief executive clerk to the president.

Bankruptcy Bill Signed.
WASHINGTON, July 2.—The president signed the bankruptcy bill yesterday afternoon.

ALL CHICAGO PAPERS TO SUSPEND.
Publishers Decided to Thus Meet a Strike of Stereotypers.

CHICAGO, July 2.—The following bulletin was posted at every Chicago newspaper office last evening at about 10 o'clock:

"At 8 o'clock this (Friday) evening the Stereotypers' union notified the publishers of Chicago that unless their demands for an increase of wages from $3.25 to $4 per day, a reduction of the working day from eight to seven hours, with payment at the rate of 75 cents per hour for all overtime, and other concessions were at once acceded to, they would refuse to return to work. In consequence of this action the _____, in common with all other Chicago papers, will not appear Saturday."

This action of the newspapers was in pursuance of an understanding recently entered into, including among other provisions the following agreement:

"In the event of a strike in any of the departments of one or more of the Chicago daily newspaper offices the mechanical resources of all our offices shall be pooled to the extent and with the purpose that no newspaper shall be published unless and until all the newspapers can be promptly published on the same day."

The stereotypers have been averaging from $19.50 to $22 per week on six-day evening papers, and from $24 to $27 on seven-day morning papers. It is anticipated that the influx of stereotypers from all parts of the country will be so immediate and so great that the interruption of publication will continue for but a few days.

Ancient Order of Hibernians.
TRENTON, N. J., July 2.—The national convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians finished its work last night and adjourned sine die. J. P. Keatings of Chicago was chosen national president yesterday afternoon; James E. Dolan of Syracuse, N. Y., elected vice president; James O'Sullivan of Philadelphia, re-elected national secretary; P. T. Moran of Washington, elected national treasurer, and P. J. O'Connor of Savannah, Ga., Edward J. Slattery of South Framingham, Mass., N. J. Burns of Indianapolis and Patrick A. O'Neill of Philadelphia, national directors. Boston was selected for holding the next national convention in May, 1900.

Disavowed by Democrats.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—At yesterday's session of the house Mr. Bailey demanded the name of the Democratic congressman who was said by Mr. Grosvenor to have written an article considered an attack on Bailey. Mr. Grosvenor refused to give it. Mr. Bailey had the Democratic members stand up to disavow authorship of the article, which those present did. Previously Mr. Grosvenor said he thought the time had come when the author of the article should come forth and acknowledge it.

Arraigned For a Brutal Crime.

CHARLESTON, July 2.—Alonzo Rogers, Israel McKnight, H. S. Stokes, Moultrie Epps, Henry Godwin, N. V. Wood and W. A. Webster were arraigned before United States Commissioner Smith in this city yesterday on the charge of murdering Fraser B. Baker, the negro postmaster who was lynched at Lake City last February.

Woman Eligible to Office.

GRAND RAPIDS, July 2.—Mrs. Flora B. Renkes, Democratic nominee for state superintendent of public instruction, has received an opinion from the attorney general that she is constitutionally eligible to office, but, for personal reasons she will decline the nomination.

TRUST AMERICA.

Aguinaldo Says His People Have Confidence.

REDRESS THEIR WRONGS.

The Relations Between the Insurgent and Dewey Amicable.

ADMIRAL MADE NO PROMISES.

He Reported to the Navy Department That He Had Left General Merritt Free to Act — Aguinaldo Promised Dewey He Would Not Enter Manila Until the Arrival of the American Troops—What Germany Wants—German Admiral Refused to Interfere.

LONDON, July 2.—The Kongkong correspondent of The Daily Mail says:

"To a friend of United States Consul Wildman General Aguinaldo has declared: 'The Philippines have the greatest confidence in America's fairness. We trust the American people, confident that with their support, we shall be able to obtain and hold our full rights and shall be respected by all the European powers. The Americans are redressing Cuban wrongs and will do the same for us in the Philippines.'"

"The relations between General Aguinaldo and Admiral Dewey are perfectly amicable. Two German war vessels have gone to Maricao to coal, and may proceed to some other port."

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The navy department received a dispatch yesterday from Admiral Dewey dated Cavite, June 27. He made no mention of reinforcements and said he had avoided committing this government to any policy and had left General Merritt free.

LONDON, July 2.—A representative of General Aguinaldo, the leader of the Philippine insurgents, who served with him during the last insurrection and who is now in London, is quoted in an interview as saying that before Aguinaldo left Hongkong he promised Rear Admiral Dewey (then commodore) not to enter Manila until the arrival of the American troops.

Aguinaldo's representative adds that he has just received a dispatch from Cavite saying a republic has been proclaimed there by Aguinaldo, under the protection of the United States, and approved by Great Britain and Japan.

Continuing the representative of the Philippine leader asserts that he has been to Berlin, where he saw the under secretary for the foreign office, who declared that all Germany wanted was that the existing import tariffs would not be altered by a republic being established in the Philippine islands, or at least that preference should not be given to any other nation.

BERLIN, July 2.—The following dispatch has been received from Hongkong: "According to trustworthy intelligence from Manila, the Spanish general had a few days ago, at his own request, a meeting with Admiral Dietrichs, the commander of the German naval forces in the far east, in order to propose, in behalf of the Spanish government, that Manila should be handed into the provisional charge of a neutral commander. The proposal was rejected by Admiral Dietrichs in view of the American blockade."

The Manila news, via Hongkong, referring to the action of Admiral Dietrichs, may be looked upon as being a semi-official note, as it was issued by the semi-official news agency here.

Opposed to Peace.

MADRID, July 2.—Two cabinet councils were held yesterday. A revival of the war feeling is noticeable. The clerical organs publish violent articles against the advocates of peace, and the priests are preaching a war to the bitter end. The conservatives also declare against the idea of peace at the present moment.

Another Degree For Dewey.

NORTHFIELD, Vt., July 2.—At the commencement exercises of Norwich university yesterday a degree of master of military science was conferred upon Rear Admiral George Dewey, a graduate of the university.

JOE LEITER'S PROBABLE LOSS.

His Father Borrowed $3,000,000 and May Want More.

CHICAGO, July 2.—Levi Z. Leiter has completed negotiations with the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company for a loan of $3,000,000 for ten years at 4 per cent. The security consists of a number of the most valuable pieces of business property in the city.

In completing the details of the loan Mr. Leiter informed the agents of the Northwestern that he would probably require further advances of about $3,500,000 or $4,000,000.

The money obtained by Mr. Leiter will go toward the liquidation of the debt incurred by his son, Joseph Leiter, in wheat speculation. The share of Joseph Leiter in the immense estate of his father will be nearly, if not entirely, consumed by his speculation.

A Labor Leader Assaulted.

CHICAGO, July 2.—John A. Finnegan, president of the American Federation of Steam Engineers, is at the county hospital with a fractured skull, the result of an attack upon him by some men supposed to be members of the Stonecutters' union. He may recover.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The navy department received a dispatch yesterday from Admiral Dewey dated Cavite, June 27. He made no mention of reinforcements and said he had avoided committing this government to any policy and had left General Merritt free.

LONDON, July 2.—A representative of General Aguinaldo, the leader of the Philippine insurgents, who served with him during the last insurrection and who is now in London, is quoted in an interview as saying that before Aguinaldo left Hongkong he promised Rear Admiral Dewey (then commodore) not to enter Manila until the arrival of the American troops.

Aguinaldo's representative adds that he has just received a dispatch from Cavite saying a republic has been proclaimed there by Aguinaldo, under the protection of the United States, and approved by Great Britain and Japan.

Continuing the representative of the Philippine leader asserts that he has been to Berlin, where he saw the under secretary for the foreign office, who declared that all Germany wanted was that the existing import tariffs would not be altered by a republic being established in the Philippine islands, or at least that preference should not be given to any other nation.

BERLIN, July 2.—The following dispatch has been received from Hongkong: "According to trustworthy intelligence from Manila, the Spanish general had a few days ago, at his own request, a meeting with Admiral Dieckrichs, the commander of the German naval forces in the far east, in order to propose, in behalf of the Spanish government, that Manila should be handed into the provisional charge of a neutral commander. The proposal was rejected by Admiral Dieckrichs in view of the American blockade."

The Manila news, via Hongkong, referring to the action of Admiral Dieckrichs, may be looked upon as being a semi-official note, as it was issued by the semi-official news agency here.

Opposed to Peace.

MADRID, July 2.—Two cabinet councils were held yesterday. A revival of the war feeling is noticeable. The clerical organs publish violent articles against the advocates of peace, and the priests are preaching a war to the bitter end. The conservatives also declare against the idea of peace at the present moment.

Another Degree For Dewey.

NORTHFIELD, Vt., July 2.—At the commencement exercises of Norwich university yesterday a degree of master of military science was conferred upon Rear Admiral George Dewey, a graduate of the university.

JOE LEITER'S PROBABLE LOSS.

His Father Borrowed $3,000,000 and May Want More.

CHICAGO, July 2.—Levi Z. Leiter has completed negotiations with the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company for a loan of $3,000,000 for ten years at 4 per cent. The security consists of a number of the most valuable pieces of business property in the city. In completing the details of the loan Mr. Leiter informed the agents of the Northwestern that he would probably require further advances of about $3,500,000 or $4,000,000.

The money obtained by Mr. Leiter will go toward the liquidation of the debt incurred by his son, Joseph Leiter, in wheat speculation. The share of Joseph Leiter in the immense estate of his father will be nearly, if not entirely, consumed by his speculation.

A Labor Leader Assaulted.

CHICAGO, July 2.—John A. Finnegan, president of the American Federation of Steam Engineers, is at the county hospital with a fractured skull, the result of an attack upon him by some men supposed to be members of the Stonecutters' union. He may recover.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Monday being the great holiday there will be no issue of the News Review.

A valuable dog owned by Rev. Foutte, of West Market street, died this morning.

A large number of wheelmen from the city will tomorrow take trips to neighboring cities.

The work on the interior of the Memorial chapel is progressing rapidly, and it will be completed in a few weeks.

The Crocker City Outing club left this morning for New Comerstown. The club will spend two weeks camping near that place.

The Woman's Good Citizenship union will hold a special prayermeeting at the First M. E. church next Tuesday evening. All are invited.

The trustees of the Young Men's Christian association met last evening and discussed plans. Secretary Kling was present at the meeting.

Building fund day will be observed at the Christian church tomorrow morning. The collection taken at the Sunday school will be converted to this fund.

Reverend Gardner, of this place, spent the day in Mingo Junction visiting friends. He was at one time pastor of the Presbyterian church of that place.

The case of E. L. Cohen as agent for Hyman Cohen against John Seanor was heard before Squire Rose yesterday afternoon. The defendant was found not guilty.

Reverend Weary, of St. Stephen's church, will take his vacation about the middle of July, and will be absent three weeks. Services will be held by Doctor Jones, of Wellsville, during his absence.

The water works trustees met last evening, with Messrs. Metsoh and Shenkel present. A number of bills were ordered paid, and Clerk Gipner was instructed to have the deeds recorded of the Thompson land connecting with the lower reservoir.

The Potters' Protective association, through their attorney, have entered suit in Squire Rose's court to recover $185.60 from F. W. Roberts & Co. The amount is claimed as being a balance due on 2,195 pounds of type metal. The case is set for July 5 at 12 o'clock.

The train that carried the Red Men and Daughters of Pocahontas to Silver Lake yesterday did not return to the city until 1:45 o'clock this morning. The train arriving at 8 o'clock last evening carried signals from Hudson to Liverpool for the picnic train.

The work of paving Jethro street, between the sidewalks and street car tracks, is being rapidly completed. When the work is done the street will be paved wide enough for one team to drive clear to the trestle without getting off of the pavement.

No arrests were made last night, and no one was around city hall this morning. The mayor's and city clerk's offices were locked, but the jail door and the doors of two cells were open. A good amount of business is expected to be secured tonight and disposed of Monday.

Lieutenant Johnson and his company marched through the principal streets last night. This was the first drill the company had since last week. Johnson was seen this morning and stated he expected to go to Lisbon not later than next Wednesday. The distance is expected to be traversed in from four to five hours.

Mayor Bough has decided that nothing can be done in the case of Motor-man Ira Clark who yesterday ran into Jack Clendenning as there is no ordinance covering the affair. The case will not be permitted to die, and as soon as Clendenning is able it is probable he will enter suit for damages against the street railway company as influential friends have taken the case in hand.

THE COLONEL'S ORATION.

"Speaking about the Fourth of July," said the colonel as half a dozen of us were smoking on the platform while we were waiting for the train, "but I had a rather singular experience last year! I was engaged to deliver the oration at Green Hill, and left Taylorsville at noon on the 3d, to drive across the country."

"And you met with an accident of course?" queried one of the group.

"I did, sir. When the journey was half completed, I had a sort of sunstroke and was obliged to put up at a farmhouse and send for a doctor. I was in bed for two days. I was so ill that I did not give the people my name or tell them, my errand until too late to notify the citizens of Green Hill."

"And so they had no Fourth of July oration?"

"But they did have, and that is the singular part of the adventure," replied the colonel. "A man arrived there on the morning of the Fourth who claimed to be me, and at the proper time he delivered the address and took the $50 and left."

"What sort of an oration did he deliver?"

"A very poor one, and that's what hurts me most of all. No one was satisfied with it. It was a rambling, shambling discourse—a mixture of politics, religion and history—and, though he was paid for it, the people felt that they had been swindled. If he hadn't used my name, he would have been hooted off the platform."

"Colonel," said the man who was smoking a brier root on the baggage trucks, "did you notice a buggy behind yours just before you were sunstruck?"

"I—I believe I did."

"I was in that buggy, strange to say. I am in the windmill business and was on my way to Green Hill. I helped put you to bed at the farmhouse."

"Is it possible?"

"It is, sir. In so doing I found your manuscript of the oration. I read it over

"SIR!" EXCLAIMED THE COLONEL, and saw it was a mighty poor effort, but rather than disappoint the people of Green Hill I committed it to memory and went over there and delivered it."

"Then you—you—"

"I am the man. I took your name, made the address and collected the money. I was actuated by the kindest motives, but my conscience has always upbraided me. That oration of yours wasn't worth over 10 cents. They paid me $50 for it."

"Sir!" exclaimed the colonel.

"And I am now on my way back to Green Hill."

"Sir!"

"To return the people the sum of $49.90 and tell them I will never be guilty of a similar crime."

"Sir!" gasped the colonel as soon as he could pull himself together. "This is a singular affair. I was simply telling a yarn to pass away time. Nothing of the sort happened to me."

"And I was only lying just to offset you," laughed the man, and we all laughed with him—all except the colonel. An hour later, as we sat together on the train, the latter suddenly turned to me and whispered:

"By George, but somehow or other I can't help but think that fellow meant to rub it in on me!"

ORATOR WHO DIDN'T ORATE.

The committee on arrangements at Red Hoss Bend had secured a Fourth of July orator from Raymondville, and on the night of the 3d he arrived at the mining camp. We had chipped in $1 apiece to get a new barrel of whisky, an American flag, a lot of fireworks and an orator, and the boys were a little anxious to know if the latter was all right. Therefore as soon as he had eaten supper he was waited upon by a small crowd, with Jim Barney as spokesman, and when they had been regularly introduced Jim led off with:

"Look-a-yere, jedge, we ar' a-lookin fur somethin redhot from you tomorrow. Kin you give us some specimens from that orashun?"

"Why, yes, of course," was the reply.

"It begins, like all other Fourth of July orations, with the band of pilgrims who sailed from England in search of liberty. They landed at Plymouth Rock, you know."

"What sorter people was them pilgrims?"

"Very respectable and religious."

"None of the whoop-up sort among 'em, eh?"

"No."

"Then you'd better skip 'em, jedge, fur our crowd will be lookin fur a different sort. What cums next?"

"Well, after awhile England laid a tax on tea, and the people of Boston got so mad they turned out and threw a whole cargo overboard."

"Anybody killed in the scrimmage?"

"I think not."

"Jest throwed the tea over and went home and want to bed, eh?"

BRIEF WAR NOTES.

Secretary Alger has decided that the bodies of soldiers killed in Cuba shall be brought to the United States for burial at the close of the war.

Joseph Schildt, a half breed Indian of the Blackfoot tribe, has made his way to New York to enlist and will go with the One Hundred and Sixty-ninth.

The treasury department has decided to use postage stamps with the imprint "I. R." for revenue stamps under the new law until the regular stamps can be issued.

Aguinaldo is said to have made a compact with Admiral Dewey not to attack the walled part of Manila until the American troops arrive and to then co-operate with them.

Campos declares that the majority of Spaniards are eager for peace and averse to a revolution. He is willing to organize a government and undertake to maintain order.

Major Lamotte and two volunteer cavalymen raised Old Glory on the Altare mountains amid cheers of soldiers, the sounding of ships' sirens and the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by bands.

Some of our soldiers rode into Juragua on a captured locomotive. They found that the Spanish had fled so precipitately as to abandon their breakfast, which was cooking. A supply of much needed flour was captured.

General Shafter's army is sadly in need of horses, there being barely enough to drag the artillery. All the officers have to walk. The Cubans hang any person selling horses or mules, the order having been issued to keep them from falling into the hands of the Spaniards.

The fight of the rough riders and regular troopers near Sevilla is called the battle of La Quasina. Many deeds of heroism are reported. Captain Capron and Sergeant Hamilton Fish, Jr., fell gallantly fighting. Surgeon Church dressed the wounds of a soldier between the lines under fire. Lieutenant Colonel Roosevelt led his men on a charge, gun in hand and cheering them on.—New York World.

Let It Leak. Mrs. Rousem (early in the morning)—John, John! Don't you smell escaping gas? John (sleepily)—I don't care if I do. It's the hotel's gas. I don't have to pay for it.—Philadelphia North American.

"STOP RIGHT THAR, JUDGE!" land's unjust demands by force of arms. You have heard of Patrick Henry of course?"

"No, never have. What was his holt?"

"Oratory. He was the one who said, 'Give me liberty or give me death!'"

"And did he pick up his guns and sail in?"

"I—I think not."

"Then you'd better cut that out, judge, fur we don't cotton to a chap who is all talk and can't shoot. Anything more happen?"

"Well, the British army marched out of Boston to Lexington, and the Americans killed a number of them."

"Kill a thousand and lick the rest out their butes!"

"Oh, no. Only a few were killed or wounded, but it was the beginning of the war for liberty, you know."

"It won't do, judge—it won't do," said Jim, with a shake of the head. "If the Americans didn't lick the British till they hollered, it wouldn't interest this crowd fur shucks. You'll hev to cut that all out. What cums next?"

"Bunker Hill."

"Who got licked then?"

"The Americans retreated, but—but—"

"Stop right thar, judge!" exclaimed Jim as he rose up to go. "What we want is a redhot orashun, with the Americans on top and givin everybody else hail Columbia, and as you haven't got it, and ar' not the critter we took you fur, you kin start fur home when you hear the fust warwhoop in the mornin!" TWO CENTS

YOUNG AMERICA'S DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

And were ready to conquer or die for the right.
They won. So will we should we fight every man
Who would place our firecrackers under a ban.
What? Keep us from showing how happy we feel
That we live where to despots we never need
kneel.
Should they try to do this we'll declare our
rights, too.
And firmly maintain them against the whole
crew.
Some claim that our method of keeping the
day
Is a nuisance that should be proscribed right away
And that then our rockets and firecrackers'
rattle
Would no longer disturb their meaningless
tattle.
No doubt there's some danger to life and to
limb
When we keep up the Fourth with our usual
vim.
A few may be injured, some few perhaps die,
By our loyal display on the Fourth of July.
But if there's some risk in our fiery display
'Tis mostly to us. And how could we, pray,
Our sires emulate, to their spirit aspire,
But by having, like them, a baptism of fire?
Then, hurrah, for a bright, noisy Fourth of July!
Let us honor the day and constantly try
To follow their footsteps who willingly gave
Their all, even life, their dear country to save.
NEIL MACDONALD.

THE RUSTY SWORD.

BY G. T. FERRIS.

GEORGE MARCOE'S den in the old homestead, which he had inherited from his father, the colonel, one of the most substantial citizens of Williston, was as fit and pleasant a bachelor's haunt as any one of that genus could wish.

Handsome fur rugs, many of them the spoils of the owner's rifle, were scattered over the oak floor, and the room was lined with bookcases filled with the best literature of the world. Between the moose and elk heads mounted on the walls were scattered fine water colors and etchings. Here stood a stand of pipes, there a cabinet of sporting guns. An angling rod was propped up against a handsome bronze, and a dozen half made trout flies were tumbled together in an enameled Japanese plaque. The apartment, in a word, was typical of the accomplished trifler who had the tastes of not the talents of a Crichton. But the ornament in which the young man took most pride among numerous masculine knickknacks was a large wooden shield on which were suspended half a dozen swords of different patterns. A pair of modern sabers and a splendid "presentation" sword had come to him from his father, who had been a dashing cavalry officer during the civil war. A short saber in a plain shagreen scabbard curved just above them, sacred to the memory of his grandfather, who had commanded a battery at Buena Vista and been slain there in a charge of the Mexican lancers. A slender blade with a silver chased hilt bore witness of a remoter ancestor, one who had served on General Hull's staff and had protested bitterly against that commander's surrender of Detroit in 1812.

"But there's the tool," said Geoffrey to his friend Adams, a young lawyer, as they sat smoking one Sunday afternoon, "belonging to the fine old crusty warrior of the lot," pointing to the topmost sword. He took it down—a long, straight cut and thrust, and tried to unsheathe it, but it stuck so fast as to resist all his strength. "That is he," he continued as he bowed before an oil painting, dingy with years,

"I'M A SAD DEGENERATE, I FEAR."

Whence looked the stern but courtly features of a Revolutionary worthy in the uniform of his period, "General Geoffrey Marcoe, for whom I am named, one of Washington's most trusted friends and lieutenants on many a well fought field. He laid the foundation of our family fortunes through the grant of land given him by Congress, which originally included this and several adjoining towns."

"Lucky dog," sighed Adams, "to have inherited lots of money and a distinguished name; but, all the same, you can't unsheathe your great-great-grandfather's sword."

"No; neither literally nor as a figure of speech," said Geoffrey, struggling in vain with the rusted sword blade and refusing his friend's offer of help. "I'm a sad degenerate, I fear. Here I am ten years out of college and am only an idler and a dilettante, with little prospect of ever being anything else, while you, lucky dog—you have everything before you, and nothing behind except splendid health and energy. I tell you, my boy, you'll make the bagpipes scream, while I shan't even whistle through the chanter, as my old Scotch nurse would say."

Adams laughed a little in his sleeve, for he suspected the cause of this pessimism, so alien to Geoffrey's usual easy and animated temper, to be his bitter quarrel with Janet Hardy, a very lovely but energetic young person of the modern school, always unhappy unless she was "doing things." Janet also came of distinguished colonial stock and was prominent in the local chapter of the Daughters of the Revolution, an institution of which she was proud beyond measure.

"What a charming thing is repose in woman," he had said to his betrothed a few weeks before on her returning from the great convention which had assembled the Daughters and the Colonial Dames together in New York for the main purpose of instigating a greater interest in the Fourth of July and its proper celebration. Janet had rattled on with great enthusiasm about what had been said and done by these feminine patriots. This meditative remark of Geoffrey's struck fire. This response was a thrust en riposte, at once parry and lunge.

"D'ye think so, my Lord Dawdle," she had answered with a snap in her brilliant black eyes, "more so at all events than repose in man, which the wise sometimes call self concealed stock."

This stinging reply had led to other exchanges in which their unruly tongues betrayed them, and the result, as sometimes occurs between a couple genuinely fond of each other, was a rupture and mutual return of various little mementos, leaving the twinges of heartache behind.

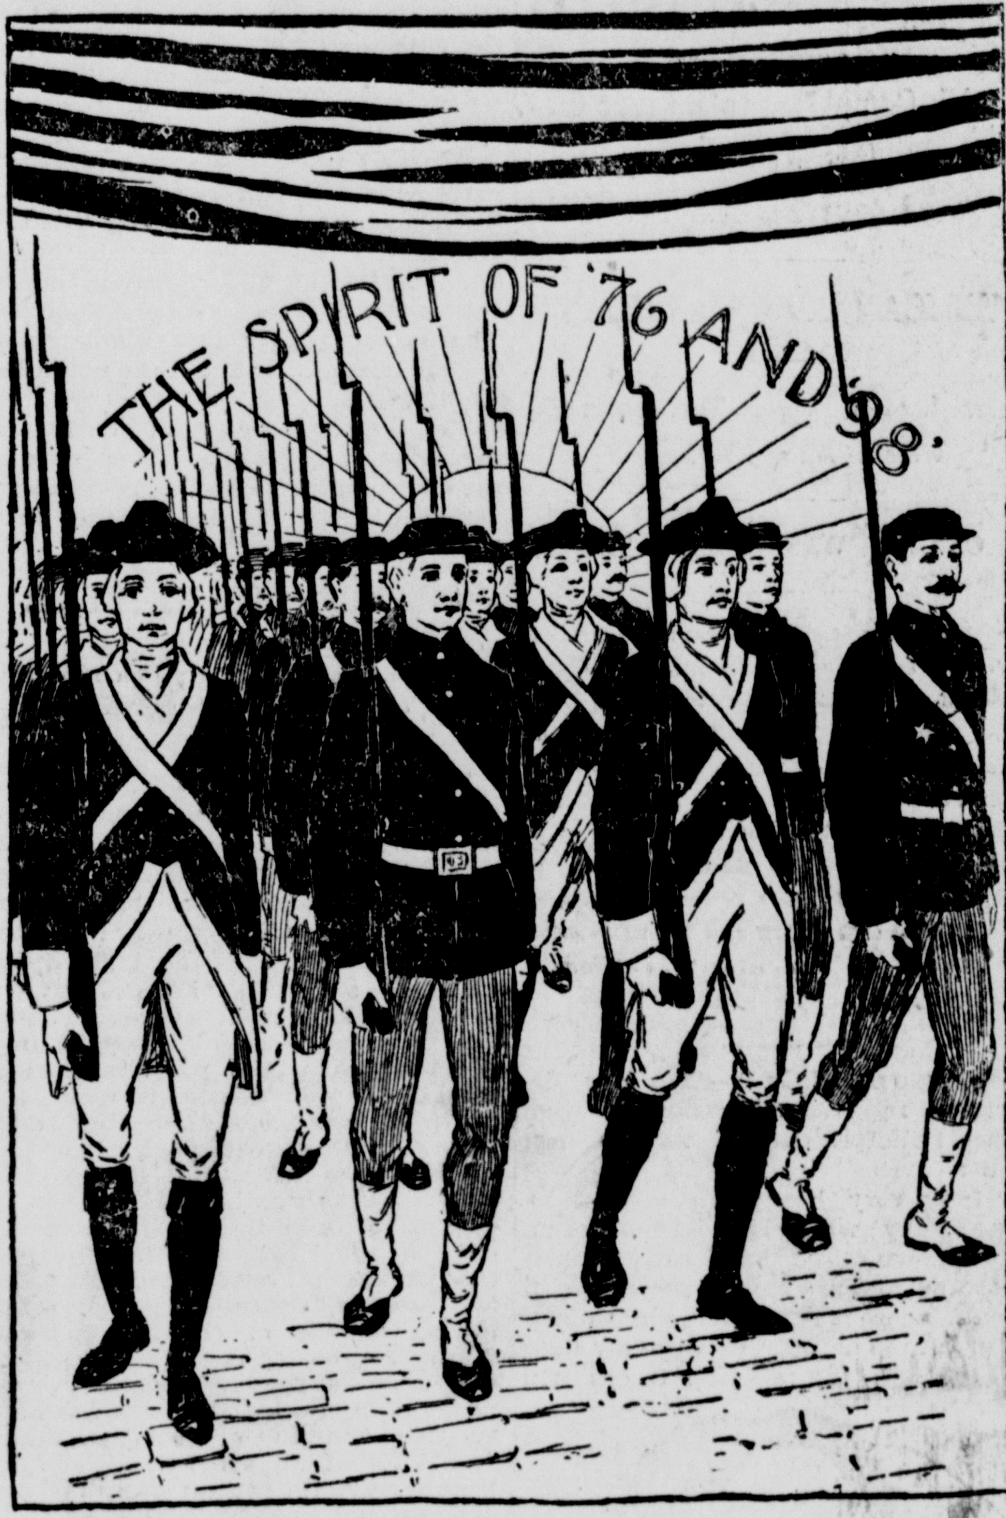

As may be inferred from Geoffrey's unfortunate remark, he had but little sympathy with the bustling business woman of the new age, even when he approved the aims to be achieved. In this case he was in lively accord with the object of Janet's eager agitation, which first fired the women and through them kindled the men into a flame of commemorative ardor. Scornfully as she bore herself and coldly

HER HEART WAS RAGING WITH TENDER PITY, polite as was Geoffrey in the occasional passing word, she knew (perhaps the sly rogue's zeal was none the less for this) that he was proving her most efficient ally. Certainly it was his suggestion, which had been adopted nem. con. as to the special form which the celebration of the great fete day should take. This was planned on the following schedule: First, a grand procession in the morning consisting of about 100 of the principal men of Williston and the vicinity riding on horseback in the costume of the Revolutionary epoch, military and civic, followed by as many ladies correspondingly attired in carriages, then by a regiment of the national guard; secondly, the usual patriotic address by the most eminent of the local celebrities, Judge Peterson, and a great picnic in a grove, and in the evening elaborate fireworks for the people on the Williston green, with a costume ball at the town hall for the gentry in the same attire as that of the morning. All this involved considerable expense and preparation, but Williston was a place of large wealth, and the residents had been thoroughly aroused to meet the occasion.

"Well, continue to show as much 'go' in any direction worth while as you have put into this Fourth of July matter," said Adams, pursuant of their talk, "and you'll falsify your own prediction."

"That's the deuce of it," answered Geoff, with a deprecating frown. "This is fun, and it appeals to a fellow's patriotic pride. The other is work—genuine grind. I have thought for a good while that the country has let Independence day die into a sort of mummied holiday without any life in it, precisely like this rusty sword blade, confound it!" as he still tugged at the brass hilt. "I must put oil in and soak it out. I don't suppose I shall have to draw it on parade, but that steel have to come out of prison. And, by the way, there's an old tradition in the family which I remember as a boy. The general left an injunction in his will that at least once a year his descendant possessing the sword should unsheathe it and keep the blade bright. I had forgotten about it till this moment, and I don't believe that any one else has ever thought of it. But I'll do it yet and redeem some of my lazy ancestors."

"Good for you," said Adams. "Me-thinks I already see the old gentleman smiling on you from his portrait," for just then a burst of sunlight through a cloudy day flashed into the room and brightened the somber paint of the picture.

Another ten days brought the great occasion for which Williston was all agog. Early in the morning Geoffrey Marcoe again set to work on the obstinate sword, which had been assiduously coaxed with oil; but no amount of struggle was able to loosen the blade. To his disgust he felt obliged to give it up for the nonce, but he anticipated no awkwardness, as he could see no occasion for drawing of swords except on the part of the militia officers. In any case that was the proper sword for him to wear.

Poor fellow! He little guessed that, however unthought of in advance, the inspiration of every heart in or out of uniforms, when steel was worn by the side, would be to flash its brightness in the July sunlight in salute of Old Glory as they passed the green over which fluttered its silken folds. And so it came to pass. As the cavalcade reached the line of the flagstaff a whisper ran among the Revolutionary worthies. Every hand was clapped to every hilt, Geoffrey's among them. Sweat drops beaded his face in agony of his effort, and as he writhed and bit off bad words underneath his mustache the irreverent and irresponsible small boy, so much in evidence at spectacles, began to snicker. This piece of real life comedy attracted attention and was noticed even by those in the first carriage not far away, for the road curved sharply around the green oval.

"Mr. Marcoe is less apt with the cold steel than his ancestors have been," giggled a fair one sitting with Janet Hardy—Mary Bodkin, who, report said, had vainly angled for the unfortunate Geoff.

The sharp retort flew to Janet's tongue: "I suppose so. The kind of 'steel' he is more familiar with is that of hearts of silly girls he never cared a bodkin for." Her heart was raging with tender pity and sympathy, and she resented ridicule like a slap in the face.

"I BRING YOU A MESSAGE FROM THE DEAD," HE SAID.

Geoffrey did succeed in drawing that

demon sword at last, and a piece of paper fluttered from it, which he saw had as much to do with its reluctance to come forth as had the rust of years. He thrust it in his pocket as it was restored to him by a bystander, though not without observing that it was closely covered with writing. He took the earliest opportunity, which was at the picnic, to examine his mysterious find, and great were his wonder and delight in deciphering the faded and oil stained words.

It was his statement made over the signature of his great-great-grandfather, General Marcoe: "And I have set forth in my last testament that the sword around which this is wrapped shall be drawn from the sheathe for scouring once a year and the paper rewrapped again, to the end that each inheritor of the sword once wet with the blood of Marcus Hardy, however cleansed thereafter by nobler service, may heed."

The document set forth how a young hot head, flushed with wine, had grossly insulted his friend at a tavern brawl and the twain had gone out to ruffle it with naked swords in the early morning light. "Twas little after dawn of July 6, 1776, when, horror stricken, I looked down on my victim with his blood stained breast. As I groaned in my agony there came the clatter of resounding hoofs on the pike, one riding in furious haste, haggard and weary looking, as who had spared neither spur nor whip all night. 'Help to get a surgeon for a wounded man!' I cried. He shouted back: 'I stay neither for life nor death. The colonies declared Independence two days ago at Philadelphia, and I bear the tidings to New York.' And at the wonderful words the dying man raised his head with a light of joy beyond words in his pallid face as he panted from betwixt the blood froth of his lips: 'I die happy now, Geoffrey, for the country will be free, even though I shall not live to fight for it. Think naught more of your part in my death, but rather bear yourself like two men for the dear land.' We got him at last safe to good nursing, and Marcus Hardy lived to be my gallant comrade through the war, and we became even as David and Jonathan thereafter. I do hereby enjoin my descendants to keep the friendship of Marcoe and Hardy ever unbroken even to the end, that they may always fight the battle of life with hand clasp and united hearts."

Is it a marvel that Geoffrey heard but little of the orators' burning periods and that the picnic gaiety fell flat and stale on him? Amid all the buzz of congratulation his heart beat impatiently for the evening and a quiet word with Janet which would come with it.

His eye followed her stately figure through the mazes of the dance at the ball and reveled in the beauty of the black eyes under the powdered hair and the twin roses accented with dainty patches. But he avoided more than a commonplace greeting and did not even ask to walk a quadrille. But he found opportunity to drop a passing whisper: "Meet me in the reception room off the hall in ten minutes. I must see you."

"I bring you a message from the dead," he said as her eyes met his in curious query.

"The dead are infinitely condescending to leave their repose to disturb our repose," she answered with a little malice, courtesying in old time fashion.

"When I drew that unlucky yet most lucky sword this morning, something came out with it." And he unsheathed the sword again with the paper wrapped about it, holding the blade by the point in the attitude of surrender.

Satirical humor went out of her spiarling face, and it softened as with a glow of tender wonder and anticipation. Holding the naked sword in one hand, she read that Marcoe legacy, and her eyes were suffused into wells of liquid sweetness, which revealed all that Geoffrey could hope in them.

"Do you forgive me?" he said as the thrill of her outstretched hand drew him to her.

"I didn't need this for pardon," she whispered to him. "My heart had forgiven you five minutes afterward. But you stupid men never know women."

He made an instinctive movement. "No, no; not now," she said hurriedly as she looked around, and then, as with a new thought, the old keen look flashed again into her eyes, and she continued with a peculiar significance in her tones:

"Will you pledge me now, Geoffrey dear, always to keep the sword scoured bright and sharp? You know movement, not repose, is the law of life."

He sheathed the blade. "When a fellow's wife has the ghost of his great-great-grandfather looking over her shoulder, I fancy he'll have to do pretty much as she likes," he answered, with a laugh.

THE VILLAGE FOURTH.

Within the shaded doorway
The eager children stand,
For the strains of stirring music
Announce the coming band.

The roar of distant cannon
Mingles with the chime of bells,
While nearer still and nearer
The joyous tumult swells.

Dear grandma leaves her knitting,
And with baby on her knee
Comes and sits among the children,
Who are shouting now with glee.

For down the street comes marching
A long and varied train
Keeping step to "Yankee Doodle,"
The merry old refrain.

Now the last of the procession,
With its flags and streamers gay,
Whisks around a distant corner

Take No Chances on the Fourth.

Don't talk politics on the Fourth.
Don't go on a crowded excursion.
Don't be ashamed to be patriotic.
Don't get overheated early in the day.
Don't carry loose powder in your pocket.
Don't laugh at the drum major—pity him.
Don't put all your fireworks in one heap.
Don't drive a nervous horse on the Fourth.
Don't think powder is a respecter of persons.
Don't encourage small boys to fire large cannon.
Don't take any chances with a cracked cannon.
Don't blow down the mouth of a loaded cannon.
Don't put your nose to a rocket after lighting it.

Acknowledged.

"I do not claim," said the thoughtful member of the club, "that the influence of fashion is entirely harmful. We must admit that we owe the milliner and dressmaker something."
"Goodness, yes!" exclaimed the usually frivolous member, shuddering. "My account can't be less than $150."

TOO HOT FOR MEETING

TWO SESSIONS IN A YEAR

Health Officer Ogden and Officer Burgess Presented Their Reports, and the Bills Were Presented by Clerk Bursner. Smidtbaun's Bond.

The board of health as usual failed to meet last evening.

At the appointed hour the only persons present were Clerk Bursner, Health Officer Ogden and Sanitary Policeman Burgess. They spent some time at city hall, but not one member of the board appeared, and the three officers decided to go home. There was not any business to transact, but the board should at least meet and pay bills.

There has been but two meetings of the board of health within the last year, and if it does not propose to do business it should be abolished, as there is absolutely no use in paying for some of the officers if the board hold no meetings. The claims committee have no authority to pay their bills unless the board first pass upon them.

The report of Health Officer Ogden for the month is as follows: Births, 21; deaths, 9. Causes of death—typhoid fever, 1; consumption, 1; railroad accident, 1; nervous prostration, 1. Five cases of typhoid fever were reported.

Sanitary Officer Burgess reported that he ordered five people to remove their chicken coops, made 21 verbal notices, and buried eight dogs, four cats, one rabbit and two horses.

The bills are as follows: J. H. Burgess, $50; C. B. Ogden, $25; J. H. Simms, $7.

Clerk Bursner called attention to the fact that the bond of Otto Smidtbaun was only good for 15 days and the board should instruct him to give a new bond.

PAINFULLY INJURED.

William Bradley suffered an accident.

William Bradley, biscuit bench boss at the china works, yesterday afternoon met with a painful accident. He was carrying a saggar on his head when it broke and cut a large gash in his nose making a painful though not serious wound. He was taken to the office of a physician where his injuries were dressed.

SMALL FIRE

Took Out the East End Department in a Hurry.

Last night between 7 and 8 o'clock a small fire occurred at the stable of the Knowles, Taylor and Anderson sewer pipe works.

The East End department was called out and made good time to the scene, but the fire had been extinguished before they arrived. The damage was slight.

GEN. SHAFTER HAS CARRIED OUTPOSTS

Spanish Compelled to Retreat Before Our Men During Heavy Fighting.

AMERICAN LOSS WAS HEAVY

EL CANEY WAS ALSO TAKEN.

The Fighting Lasted From About 8 O'clock Until Sundown and Was Expected to Be Resumed This Morning. The American Troops Were Busy Entrenching Themselves After the Battle. Cervera's Ships Turned Loose Their Shells on the American Line—Ships of the American Fleet Bombaraded Vigorously—One of the Wounded, Whose Arms Were Shot Off and Had Received a Wound in the Hip, Was Brought In Laughing.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The war department received the following from General Shafter, dated at Siboney, last night: "Had a very heavy engagement today (Friday) which lasted from 8 a. m. till sundown. We have carried their outworks and are now in possession of them. There is now about three-quarters of a mile of open between my lines and the city. By morning troops will be entrenched and considerable augmentation of forces will be there. General Lawton's division and General Bates' brigade, which have been engaged all day in carrying El Caney, which was accomplished at 4 p. m., will be in line and in front of Santiago during the night. I regret to say our casualties will be above 400. Of these not many killed.

(Signed) "SHAFTER."

SIBONEY, July 1, via Playa del Este, Guantanamo Bay, July 2.—About 1 o'clock this afternoon, after five hours' terrific fighting, the Spanish began to leave their entrenchments and retreat into the city. Many Americans were wounded and are being brought in. One man had had both arms shot off and was wounded in the hip, but was laughing.

PLAYA DEL ESTE, Guantanamo Bay, July 1.—The fighting continued until dark. Our forces carried the enemy's outworks and have occupied them this evening. The battle will probably be resumed at daybreak.

The American loss is heavy. Some estimates place it at 500 killed and wounded.

The general assault on the city of Santiago de Cuba, by the land and sea forces of the United States, began early in the morning.

General Lawton advanced and took possession of Carbona, a suburb of Santiago.

Morro castle and the other forts at the entrance of the harbor were bombarded by our fleet. The Vesuvius used her dynamite guns with good effect.

The Spanish fleet in the harbor fired on the American troops, who were very close to the city.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—An early dispatch yesterday from General Shafter announced the engagement was on, the fighting having begun near Caney by Lawton's division.

According to General Shafter's report, the attack on Santiago was begun by the Second division of the Fifth army corps, commanded by Brigadier General H. W. Lawton. This division consists of three brigades made up as follows:

First brigade, commanded by Colonel J. J. Van Horn—Eighth United States infantry, Twenty-second United States infantry and Second Massachusetts infantry.

Second brigade, commanding officer unknown, but supposed to be Colonel Bates—First United States infantry, Fourth United States infantry and Twenty-fifth United States infantry.

Third brigade, commanded by Brigadier General A. R. Chaffee—Seventh United States infantry, Twelfth United States infantry and Seventeenth United States infantry.

It thus appears that the entire division which opened the hostilities of the day is composed entirely of regular troops, seasoned and experienced in battle, with the exception of the Second Massachusetts volunteer infantry, which is regarded as one of the best volunteer organizations of the army.

General Miles received a dispatch early yesterday morning from General Shafter's headquarters, saying that the big military balloon was high in the air and was giving opportunity for observation over a great sweep of country. This in itself was of incalculable value to our troops. Brave reconnaissances had been made, but they were of little value compared to what could be seen from a balloon, a mile or more in the air, commanding a radius of observation of from 20 to 40 miles with powerful telescopes.

CHANCES OF A RETREAT.

War Department Figuring on Prospects of the Spaniards Leaving Santiago.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The military authorities here are fully considering the chances of a retreat of the Spanish army from Santiago and are endeavoring so to shape events that General Shafter's force will not only take Santiago, but will capture the 12,000 Spaniards before they get away northward to effect a juncture with General Pando. Full information as to the possible lines of retreat has been placed at the disposal of the war department.

One of the most interesting statements is that of General Manager Cox of the Spanish-American Mining company at Baiquiri, who is thoroughly acquainted with all the country surrounding Santiago. He shows that the two possible lines of retreat are: First, by the road to El Cobre; or, second, by following the line of the Sebanillo and Marato railroad. The first line will be easy for about the first ten miles, or as far as El Cobre, but after that the country is mountainous and barren and would not afford subsistence, and the pass to reach the central plateau of the island would be difficult.

The more likely line of retreat will be along the line of the above mentioned railroad, crossing the Sierra Maestra at El Cristo, a pass 600 feet above the sea ten miles north of Santiago, which is the lowest pass through the Sierra Maestra for many miles. The country back of this is a rolling plateau of rich agricultural land. It is probable that if the Spaniards retreat by this road they will make a stand on the plateau at El Cristo and hold the pass of El Cristo.

The only other pass through the mountains near this point is at Escandel summit, about six miles in a straight line east of El Cristo pass. Escandel summit is 1,200 feet above the sea and is reached from Santiago via Caney. The road from Santiago to Caney is fairly good, being wide enough for vehicles. Between Caney and Escandel the road, which is no more than a trail, ascends the mountains and is very winding and broken.

Beyond Escandel across the range the country is heavily timbered and broken and the roads are not good. It is an ideal country for ambush. This is probably the only pass through which the Spanish position could be turned should the Spanish troops occupy the Cristo plateau and pass.

The railroad has been fortified by a line of blockhouses, protecting the bridges, and certain zones of cultivation inclosed between these forts have been planted during all the time of the war and would afford a supply for the army for a certain time. In the meanwhile sweet potatoes could be planted, which, in three months, would ripen.

The zones of cultivation exist along the road as far as San Luis, at which point there is considerable country in cultivation. On the other branch (the Sabanilla branch) the zones of cultivation extend as far as Sango.

Two Victims of a Tragedy.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Vicenzo Rosano, an Italian woman about 24 years old, a bride of a week, was shot yesterday at Newark, N. J., by Giovanni Marighetti, a rejected suitor, and died last night in St. Michael's hospital. Marighetti, after the shooting, leaped from a window in the fourth floor and was so fatally hurt he died.

Train Held Up in Texas.

EL PASO, Tex., July 2.—The Texas Pacific westbound train was held up and the safe dynamited late last night at Stanton siding, near Midland, Tex. No one was hurt. Bloodhounds have been sent to the scene from Pecos and two posers from Midland are in hot pursuit.

Chicago Schoolboard Deadlocked.

CHICAGO, July 2.—The contest for the position of superintendent of Chicago's schools is still undecided. The present board of education made another ineffectual attempt to choose a superintendent last night, the votes being divided as before between Dr. E. Benjamin Andrews and Superintendent Lane. The board then adjourned sine die.

Agreement Reported Signed.

LONDON, July 2.—The Pekin correspondent of The Times says Sir Claude MacDonald, British minister to China, and Prince Ching, have signed the Wei-Hai-Wei convention.

England Annexes Islands.

LONDON, July 2.—According to a dispatch from Sydney the British cruiser Mohawk has annexed 18 islands of the Santa Cruz and Duff groups in the Pacific.

CAMARA'S FLEET.

Believed In Cairo He Will Divide It.

PART MAY GO EASTWARD.

A SCHEME FOR COAL FAILED.

It Was Intended, It Appears, to Send Coal on Local Vessels Through the Suez Canal to the Red Sea and Then Tranship to the Spanish Colliers—Not Permitted—Warships Reported to Have Put to Sea—Not a Matter of Much Concern to the U. S. Government.

CAIRO, July 2.—It is believed that part of Admiral Camara's squadron intends to proceed westward and the rest eastward. The local colliers, it appears, intended trying to go to the Red sea to tranship their coal to the Spaniards there, but this they are not permitted to do because it would be a breach of neutrality. Admiral Camara can only coal from one of his own colliers in the Red sea.

PORT SAID, July 2.—Admiral Camara's ships moved outside the harbor in order to coal from their own colliers. The San Francisco has entered the canal.

LONDON, July 2.—A dispatch to from Port Said, dated yesterday, says that the Pelayo, Emperador Carlos Quinto, Patriota, Buenos Ayres, Isla de Banay Rapido, San Francisco, Isla de Luzon and Sanitgnac de Loyola have gone to sea.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—So far as the navy department knows, the Cadiz fleet is still at Port Said unable to coal, but it is taking no chances on their course and is steadily pressing the arrangements for the dispatch to the Mediterranean of the eastern squadron under Commodore Watson. An evidence of this purpose was made visible yesterday in the packing and forwarding of boxes of charts of all the waters likely to be traversed by Watson's squadron directly to the ships off Santiago.

While there is no fear whatever of the Spanish fleet ever reaching the Philippines, even if it does go through the canal, yet the English view of the question that the American government would prefer to have Admiral Camara and his fleet keep on in the direction of the Philippines is not correct.

This fleet, sailing along the Asiatic coast, might be more or less of a menace to American commerce, and it might even get in the way of some of the transports going to and coming from the Philippines. But as long as it stays in the Mediterranean there is no danger whatever on the part of the fleet to American interests and it can easily be kept track of.

Still, it is not a matter of much concern to the government. Commodore Watson's fleet will go to the Spanish coast when it is good and ready, but that may be some time yet. It is not believed here that peace will be secured until Spain is attacked on her own coast. And before that is done the Philippine, the Caroline and Ladron islands, as well as Porto Rico, will fly the American flag. It is possible that the Canary islands will be included in the list.

Reinforcements For Shafter.

TAMPA, Fla., July 2.—The transport Louisiana sailed from Port Tampa last Tuesday bound for Santiago with reinforcements for General Shafter. The Louisiana carried 150 recruits, under command of Captain W. H. James for General Shafter's army; the Thirty-second ambulance corps, consisting of 19 privates, 1 officer, 12 recruits, 8 horses, 2 bell horses, 40 ambulances, mules, 130 pack mules, 10 ambulances and 28 packers.

Fear Americans May Land.

MADRID, July 2.—The newspapers here express apprehension that the Americans will use the coast of Morocco as a base of supplies of coal and provisions, and they urge the Spanish government to rapidly fortify Punta Careno, Algeiras, and other strategic points in order to prevent the American soldiers from approaching the neighborhood of Gibraltar for coal, etc.

THE FOURTH IN LONDON.

Notable Englishmen Will Help Americans Celebrate.

LONDON, July 2.—The Americans in London are preparing for the greatest Fourth of July celebration, next Monday, ever given outside the United States. The principal event of the occasion will be a dinner of the American society at Hotel Cecil, which is to be attended by probably the most distinguished gathering of Englishmen that ever got together at an American banquet.

The list of acceptances includes such names as that of Marquis of Dufferin and Ava, the first diplomat of Europe; Lord Charles Beresford, the earl of Kimberly, Lord Brassey, John Morley, Lord Kninnaird, Professor James Bryce, T. P. O'Connor, the Marquis of Ripon, Professor Richard C. Jebb of Cambridge university, Rev. J. E. C. Welton, head master of Harrow; Field Marshal Sir Donald Stewart, Sir J. E. Poynter, president of the Royal academy; the bishops of London, Ripon and Rochester; the dean of Rochester, Sir Charles Evan Smith. Major General

The young man who starts in business life with a good athletic training back of him will be able to stand more than the man who has not had the same advantage. Nevertheless, if he overworks and neglects his health, he is likely to fall a victim to some fatal malady like his less fortunate brother.

There is only one safe road for a man to tread in the matter of health. That is the road of eternal vigilance. No man, no matter how strong he may be naturally, can with impunity neglect the little ills and indispositions of life. These little disorders are what make the big ones. When a man suffers from headaches and loss of appetite, feels drowsy and dull during waking hours, cannot sleep at night and is nervous and shaky at all times, he is in a dangerous condition. If he long neglects his condition he will find himself a very sick man. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best of all medicines for the many diseases that are caused by an impaired digestion and insufficient and improper nourishment. It creates a hearty, healthy appetite; it makes digestion and assimilation perfect; it invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and nerve tonic. It is the best of all medicines for nervous disorders and it cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption, if taken in its earlier stages, before the lungs are too far wasted. For chronic, bronchial, throat and nasal affections it is an unequalled remedy. An honest dealer will not suggest some inferior substitute.

Rev. C. M. Lemond, (P. O. Box 207), Quanah, Hardeman Co., Texas, writes: "I write to say that during the late trouble between the States it became my duty as well as privilege to speak in the open air at night, which produced slight hemorrhages and loss of voice from which I had suffered more or less for a number of years, until that God-send 'Golden Medical Discovery' given to the world by the inventive and scientific brain of Dr. R. V. Pierce, was obtained. After six bottles had been used the pains and aches in my lungs began to give way, and now I feel that, with a judicious course of life I may live many years. I thank God for giving to the world a man who has done so much for suffering humanity."

DONE SO QUIETLY.

East Liverpool People Are Surprised—Like a Ray of Sunshine to Many a Home.

It comes like a ray of sunshine. Makes the old folks happy. And the young folks joyful. Takes the load off the back. It is all done so quietly. No fuss about it. What is it? Why, Doan's Kidney Pills! The Little Kidney Wonder-Workers. What will they do?

Read what a citizen says: Mrs. A. Seagriff, No. 152 High street, East End, says: "I had a severe attack of kidney disease over a year ago which confined me to my bed for about three months. It affected my entire system and while I was able to be about I never got completely rid of it. I suffered almost constantly with a dull, heavy pain across the loins; if I sat for any length of time, or did anything that brought me into a stooping position and attempted to rise, there would be a sharp shooting pain in the small of my back that felt as if a knife or other sharp instrument had pierced me. I could not sleep when I went to bed, expecting to get rest. I was often robbed of it by nervousness and pain in my back. I have risen unrefreshed and more tired and worn out than I was when I retired. I had taken so much medicine without being cured that I was discouraged. I belong to the Daughters of Liberty and the Maccabees and notified them to drop me, but they refused to do so; this made me more determined than ever to get well, as I did not want to be a burden to them. Doan's Kidney Pills presented themselves in the form of a newspaper account. I got some at the W. & W. Pharmacy. They proved to be the proper remedy for me. Their mild and gentle influence gradually reduced the pain in my back and strengthened the weakness. All the symptoms having disappeared, I rested well at night and gained in strength and weight every day. Of course I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills; it would not be right to refuse to, for the benefit of other sufferers."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name, Doan's and take no other.

Frank Russell, Sir John B. Monckton, Sir John Frederick Bridge and Sir Robert Ball.

Other eminent Englishmen who were unable to accept the invitation of the American society have sent letters of regret, which will be read at the banquet, expressing the most cordial feeling for the United States on the anniversary of the Declaration of Independence.

J. L. Taylor, president of the American society, has still another Fourth of July celebration in hand, for he addresses a Congregational union of Stepney on Sunday on the subject of the "American War for Independence."

Students Are Suspended.

DELAWARE, O., July 2.—The faculty of the Ohio Wesleyan university has notified about 25 students that they may return home under rules of suspension. Many of them are in the city attending the summer session trying to make up some extra work, but they were released of that duty on "improper conduct," which embraces, as it is understood, card playing, drinking and carousing.

WELLSVILLE.

FOUR SENT TO CANTON

They Will Spend the Fourth Behind Bars.

DOWNARD SENIOR AMONG THEM

Bicycle Accident Without Serious Results.
Another Building at the Mill.
Services in the Churches—All the News of Wellsville.

Mayor Dennis wound up his week's work by clearing Wellsville of four individuals who will spend the Fourth and a number of other days breaking stones or making brooms in Canton. The party were taken this morning by Chief Duncan, and some of them, it is probable, will not return to this place, while others cannot come until the heated term has spent its force.

William Downard, who was arrested on the complaint of his son, was fined $15 and costs, but William didn't have the price of liberty and got 30 days.

James Murray and Annie Marshall, whose deeds have not been in accordance with the law, were also a little short and were placed in line for the trip.

John Patterson, the bartender at Martin's saloon whose name is not unknown in Wellsville, got $25 and costs for illegal liquor selling. John has not been prosperous, it seems, and he too got a sentence.

This business cleaned the docket and the jail was empty.

The Churches.

Rev. J. J. A. McDowell, of New Castle, Pa., will conduct services at the First Presbyterian church. Morning subject "Life of the Glorified." In the evening at 7 a patriotic service will be held. Subject "The Significance of the Present Conflict."

U. P., Rev. W. A. Littell, pastor—Morning communion service; Sabbath school 11:30 a. m.

Christian, Rev. H. N. Miller, pastor—Services will be held at usual hours.

Evangelical church, Reverend Gamertsfelder—Preaching 10:15 a. m., and 7 p. m.; Sunday school 9 a. m.

First Methodist Episcopal, Rev. J. S. Reager, pastor—Morning subject, "A Christian Nation;" evening subject, "Joy of Salvation."

Shop News.

H. C. Taggart, who has been off duty for a few days, has returned to work.

A. E. Rogers, who has been off duty on account of an accident, has so far recovered as to again resume his duties.

J. E. Paisley, blacksmith at the shops, has been ill since Thursday.

J. E. Ferguson, car builder, is under the doctor's care.

Fireman John W. Noragon has been off duty since Thursday.

A Warm Time.

Second street was a very warm place last night, the row being caused by an Allegheny woman who was in search of her husband.

It seems the man came here to see a "lady" friend, and the wife followed. She located him and there was war. At length he agreed to return with her, and he did, but not before their affairs were aired in a sharp verbal battle at the station.

Bicycle Accident.

Last evening about 8 o'clock Miss Lonie Hill was riding a tandem wheel with her father. In crossing the street car line on Main street at Tenth the front handles became loose and the front wheel hit the curb with such violence that Miss Hill was thrown off. No more serious results than a general shaking up followed.

More Improvements.

Another important improvement will be made at the rolling mill, where Manager Everson is already keeping an eye on the force employed.

It will be a building 30x60, built of iron, and intended to contain the big shears and used as a trimming room. It will occupy the space west of the main building.

Knows Nothing.

Mr. Finley, secretary of the new rolling mill company, said to the News Review this morning that there is absolutely nothing new in the project. He did not know when work would be commenced.

News of Wellsville.

The Imperials, of Pittsburg, and the Crescents will play two games on the Fourth. The morning game will be called at 10 o'clock and the afternoon

"REMEMBER THE MAINE."

Monday being the great holiday there will be no issue of the News Review.

ARE Shafter and his men at Santiago
 to repeat the performances of Meade at Gettysburg and Grant at Vicksburg?

COMPARE patriotic William McKinley
 with the peculiar Grover Cleveland, and there is little time wasted in deciding
 which is the statesman.

IF there is glory to be had in this campaign General Shafter is going to have it. At least he is working hard enough to attain that end.

THIS war is costing the government
 about $2,000,000 a day, yet Uncle Sam
 seems able to pay the bill and still have a few pennies in his pocket.

THE Spaniards at Santiago would have had a hard time of it indeed had it not been for their defenses, made in the main of American wire.

GERMANY's friendship for Spain is
 certainly born of some selfish motive.
 The warlike William is not prone to
 acts of kindness and charity.

MR. CLEVELAND and Colonel Bryan
 are very anxious to say this country
 should not maintain dominion over any territory we may capture, but the gentlemen have not yet explained what we are to do with it. Perhaps, if they should succeed in solving that portion of the problem, the country will listen to their wail of anguish.

SEND THE FLEET.

The News Review has no desire to pose as an authority on strategy, but it believes the government can do no better than carry the war to Spain. Let Commodore Watson knock the old castles of
 the miserable old country to pieces, and it will not be long until the dons are ready to sue for peace. The learned newspaper writers who hope the administration will not endanger the success
 of this country by such a "blunder," certainly have no ground on which to base the statement.

THE SAME OLD CRY.

The United States has been called upon a number of times to decide whether it should extend its borders by annexing this or that piece of territory,
 and the projects have always been met
 with the same kind of resistance heard
 in these days of trial. There have ever been men to object, but their objections
 have been overthrown, and who is there
 to say the country has not been benefitted? Conservatism is a commendable
 trait, but there are times when it is a close companion of cowardice.

CELEBRATE THE FOURTH.

To make the celebration of next Monday a complete success all the people must join heartily in the spirit of the occasion. The flying of an enormous flag from the peak of the tallest staff in Columbiana county is an event not to be passed as commonplace, and when it
 is remembered that thousands of brave
 boys are far from home fighting bravely
 to maintain the national honor and to place our colors where they will fly
 among those representing the power and glory of centuries, the day becomes one
 that is indeed unusual.

CASH TO BUY STAMPS

To Be Used In Transacting
 School Business.

TWENTY MINUTES OF WORK

The Board of Education Had a Warm
 Time of It and After Removing Coats
 Looked After a Few Affairs—Contractors
 Gave Notice.

It was 8:40 last evening when President Vodrey called the board of education to order. Those present were Messrs. Vodrey, Hill, Peach, Norris, Williams and Murphy. Several members took off their coats and business was quickly attended to. The meeting was opened by Mr. Murphy reading
 the scriptures and offering prayer.

The minutes of the last meeting were approved.

A letter was received from the Johnson company of Pittsburg stating their representative would be present at the meeting of July 18.

Bids from Arbuckle & Co., and William K. Gillespie, of Pittsburg, for janitor's supplies were read. The bids were for brooms, mops, washing powder
 and soap. The clerk was instructed to ask for quotations from broom manufacturers in Salineville and Wellsville.

A letter from Miss Gardner thanking
 the board for an increase in her salary
 was read.

Mr. Peach thought the sidewalks surrounding the West End school should be paved. The improvement will cost about $75, and the board ordered Mr.
 Peach to see that it was paved.

Clerk Norris was instructed to purchase enough revenue stamps that would be deemed necessary for transacting the
 school business.

The meeting then adjourned, after being in session 20 minutes.

LITTLE CHANGE.

Potteries East and West Continue
 Active.

China, Glass and Lamps in reporting
 the condition of trade says:

"The potteries are quite active both
 east and west, and encouraging reports reach us from the west and south about stimulated demand in all kinds of pottery products. Dinner ware, both plain and decorated, has rarely been better for
 a decade past, and restaurant ware has a large and steady trade, the west and south showing up especially strong in these lines. The trade in the east is largely confined to the better class of
 fine decorated dinner ware, specialties
 and toilet ware, while novelties are having a good demand from every section of the country, and this class of small ware, handsomely modeled and artistically decorated, and put on the market at exceedingly low prices, is growing in favor daily and has become a distinctive

ALL SHUT DOWN.

No Work In the Potteries For a Few Weeks.

Every pottery in town will be closed
 this evening, and no work will be done
 for several weeks at the majority of plants. Some will be in operation one
 week from Monday, but they are the exception, although within two weeks from
 that time will see all at work.

While trade has not been what it should be, orders are becoming more plentiful during the past few weeks and predictions for a large fall trade are heard on every hand. Preparations are being made for it, and not a pottery in town will be without a number of new shapes and decorations. It is generally believed the demand for Liverpool ware
 will be greater than at any time in the history of the country.

ROASTED THE DOCTOR.

Health Officer Ogden Smiled Just the Same.

Doctor Ogden this week received a postal card without any signature that called attention to the condition of several lots in Third street.

The card is not signed, and after calling attention to a few sanitary matters,
 is as follows:

"Doctor Ogden what is the reason you
 don't attend to your duty go down 4 st.
 or give up office its a Shame Such health
 officers."

The health official had a hearty laugh
 over it, as the places mentioned are in the best possible sanitary condition.

THE SQUIRREL LAW

The Animals Cannot Be Shot Until
 July 4.

A number of sportsmen have been making inquiries as to when the law allows the killing of squirrels, some believing July 1 to be the day.

The statute as amended by the last
 legislature says:

"No dove, woodcock or squirrel shall be shot until July 4 or after Dec. 15. The season prior to that time was from Sept.
 1 to Dec. 15."

VERY HOT.

A Number of People Have Been Prostrated.

The heat yesterday was intense, and there was very little change today.

Thermometers in some parts of town
 registered 92 degrees in the shade, and in the sun the heat was such as to make bodily effort dangerous.

One street contractor says that three
 of his men were compelled to give up early in the afternoon. No serious cases have been reported.

We are now prepared to do all kinds of tile work, having in our employ a first class workman
 with experience in this line of
 work. The Eagle Hardware Co.

The Wild West.

Great crowds attended the afternoon
 and evening performances yesterday of Pawnee Bill's Grand Wild West Exhibition. The show is good throughout,

A THOUSAND MEN

It Is Now Thought Make Up Our Loss.

SHAFTER WANTS MEDICAL AID

Grave Fears Are Entertained In Washington That First Reports Will Be Swelled Before All Is Known—A Spanish Steamer Attempted to Run the Blockade.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—[Special]—Grave fears are entertained this morning that the loss sustained by General Shafter's army yesterday is greatly in excess of the 400 killed and wounded reported last night. Military men say the close fighting and the large forces engaged could not but result in the death or injury of a large number of men.

The estimates are many, but from information which reached the department before noon it was believed the loss would amount in killed and wounded to 1,000. Information from other sources prompts the same estimate.

General Shafter wired to the department that he feared our loss had been greatly underestimated, and asked that a hospital ship be sent immediately. He gave no estimate of the loss, but the fact that he has asked for medical aid causes uneasiness.

A special from Siboney, received at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, estimates the American loss at Santiago at 1000 killed and wounded.

ANOTHER PRIZE.

A Spanish Steamer Attempted to Leave Havana.

KEY WEST, July 2.—[Special]—The Spanish steamer Benito Estenger, and a Spanish sloop have been brought here, having been captured while endeavoring to run the blockade off Havana.

DICK HATTON'S SUCCESS.

He Has Been Promoted to Paymaster.

Lieutenant Dick Hatton, whose letter in the NEWS REVIEW the other evening described so graphically the fighting at Guantanamo bay, has, according to yesterday's New York Herald, been made full paymaster in the navy, with the rank of lieutenant commander. No reason for the promotion is assigned, but his volunteering for shore duty when it required brave men to do the desperate work is believed by his friends in this city to be the cause and by Ensign Dohrman, of Steubenville, has been assigned for duty on the Chicago. The vessel goes into commission in a few days.

TOWNSHIP LINE PICNIC.

It Will Be Held August 18 and Be Addressed by Great Men.

It has been officially announced by the committee in charge that the Township Line picnic will this year be held August 18 at the grounds so well known to almost everyone in this section.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE

It Will Be a Great Big Celebration.

PROGRAM AT THE DIAMOND

An Abundance of Music and Oratory Provided For the Occasion—Details of the Flag Raising Next Monday—Sports In the Afternoon.

The arrangements for the Fourth of July celebration have all been completed, and it promises to be one of the largest in the history of the city.

The flag pole was erected in the Diamond this morning, and is now ready for the flag raising, while two car loads of fire works arrived today and will be left on the siding until Monday afternoon. A large box arrived by express last evening. Martin Pier, who will have charge of them, arrived this morning.

The work of seating the wharf will be commenced Monday morning while the platform in the Diamond will be built today.

The committee desire that everybody decorate their places of business and residences and assist in making the day one of the most successful in the history of the city.

The parade will form in Fourth street at 9 a. m. in the following order:

- City police, in platoons.
- Brass band.
- Grand army.
- Speakers in carriages.
- Drum corps.
- Sons of Veterans.
- Sons of Veterans' firing squad.
- American Mechanics.
- Junior Mechanics.
- Brass band.
- City council and officials, in carriages.
- Fire department.
- Trades council.
- Drum corps.
- Patriotic and secret orders.
- Brass band.
- Rough Riders.
- Brass band.
- Cuban bull fighters.

The parade will march from Fourth street to the Diamond, where the following program will be rendered:

- Prayer.
- Music.....Four Bands
- "America".....School Children
- Address.....Hon. R. W. Tayler
- "Star Spangled Banner".....
- Four Bands with chorus by all present.

Raising of "Old Glory."

In the afternoon the sports will take place at Columbian park, under the direction of the Brotherhood, and at 8:30 o'clock in the evening, at the foot of Broadway, the grandest display of fireworks ever shown in this section will take place under the personal direction of Nordlinger, Charlton Co., of New York. Free seats will be provided for ladies and children, while a band will play patriotic airs from the roof of the wharfboat.

The barges will be anchored close enough to shore that all may see the fireworks display.

The committee asks that the Grand Army will meet at 8 o'clock sharp without uniform, badges only, to take part in the demonstration. All comrades and other old soldiers are cordially invited to be present.

The Diamond was roped off today while the pole was being erected and passengers on the street cars had to be transferred. While the pole was going up it started to lean toward the west part of the Diamond, and there was a general rush of the people to get out of the way. The pole leaned at least six inches but the workmen managed to keep it from going over.

IT WAS ONLY A FAKE

No Fight at Line Island Last Night.

SOME DISAPPOINTED SPORTS

They Spent Hours Waiting For the Principals to Come Together, But There Was Not Much Money In the Crowd and They Quietly Slipped Away.

To fight or not to fight was the question that was being debated by Jack Bates and Mike Farragher on Line island at 1 o'clock this morning.

Several weeks ago Farragher and Bates arranged for a finish fight, and since that time Farragher has been training in this city. The newspapers were requested not to say anything about the affair until after the fight was over. Farragher's manager, a Mr. O'Mally, had made all arrangements.

At the riverbank below the Martin farm were tied a number of skiffs, and for 25 cents one could be ferried to the island. At the island a rope 50 feet long was on the ground, and a pair of boxing gloves on a bench. Farragher and his friends were talking several yards from the ring. About 100 men had gathered to witness the affair but they came home a sad lot.

When the reporters were talking with Farragher he told them the fight would be pulled off in a short time, naming from 30 minutes to an hour as the time. The reporters then walked over the entire island looking for Bates but he could not be located. O'Mally, the manager of Farragher was also missing. It was learned that the fight would take place, not on these grounds, but nearby. This was done that those without money would be left behind.

Time rolled on, and Farragher and his men were seen to enter a skiff and start for the Ohio side. Reporters followed him, but he was soon on his way to Liverpool.

O'Malley was seen coming down the path from the railroad, but professed ignorance of any knowledge that the fight had not taken place. He took a skiff, and at the island he secured lights and rope and started down the river.

Inquiry was made this morning as to the reason the fight did not take place, but nobody seemed to know anything about it. Manager O'Malley could not be found today, and his side of it could not be learned. At the island last night the prevailing reason for no fight was that no money had been posted. At the National House this morning Farragher said "the sheriff" was after him. Several other reasons were heard, but nothing definite was learned.

Farragher could not be seen this morning, and it was said he left town last night.

Bates has kept himself in seclusion if he is in the city, and his side of the affair may never be known.

O'Mally and Farragher were still in town this afternoon.

WE WON AT SHARON

After a Hot Game of Fourteen Innings.

Our Boys Could Score, but They Were Enough to Make It an Eventful Game. Carey Has Been Released by Louisville.

The East Liverpool ball team yesterday played a 14 inning game at Sharon, which they won.

A dispatch from Sharon to a morning paper says: "Sharon and East Liverpool played one of the best games ever seen on the home grounds, which was won by the latter team after 14 innings of brilliant fielding. East Liverpool scored the winning run through an error by O'Day and one by Maher. Both pitchers were effective and had good control of the ball."

The score of the game is as follows:

Sharon—2 0 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 0 0 0—4 14 8

Batteries—Bridgett, McAleese and McAleese; McShane and Davis.

John Goodwin and George McNicol left today for Rochester, where they are playing with the local team against the Imperials, of Pittsburg.

George Carey has been released by Louisville, and can now sign with Minneapolis or any other team he desires. Letcher is still covering first for Minneapolis, but is not doing as good work as did Carey.

Washington correspondent Sporting Life says:

"Mercer is doing his share of the work, and his hitting has been one of the happy features of the in and out work of the team."

Dick Padden yesterday had three errors at second for Pittsburg.

GROUND BUT NO MONEY.

That Is Why Some Factories Have Not Been Built.

"Liverpool would have a number of new industries well under way by this time if some of the land companies had decided to give money instead of land," said a well-known resident.

"The people are from points out of the city and they want to enter the pottery business, but they would consent to nothing but money and land. I know one company that turned down offers for two six-kiln plants. The sentiment is to offer land, but Liverpool promoters have no money for new concerns."

ENCOURAGING RETURNS.

Dun's Review Speaks of the Favorable Closing of the Second Quarter of the Year.

NEW YORK, July 2.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, says in part: The second quarter of the year closed with most encouraging returns. Failures have been a little larger than in the first quarter of the year, whereas a decrease of 6.2 per cent might have been expected from experience of the past ten years, but with that allowance a difference of only $3,500,000 can be charged to war and fears of war, whereas solvent payments through clearinghouses for the quarter were over $15,600,000,000.

The exports of wheat continue extraordinary. The market has been a little weaker, which is natural with abundant evidence of the enormous yield notwithstanding all reports of injury, but cash wheat has advanced to 85 cents. Corn has declined a fraction, although the demand for export is still beyond all precedent.

The demand for wool has been almost wholly confined to needs for orders in hand, and yet there is good reason to look for a better demand for goods as soon as the season opened, while with government contracts more than the usual proportion of machinery is employed, even at this dull season. Sales of wool have been only 3,011,200 pounds for the week at the three chief markets, and for the month 10,193,300 pounds, against 41,197,000 a year ago and 29,595,000 pounds in 1892.

The iron industry shows some decline in prices in Bessemer pig at Pittsburgh to $10.25, and in grey forge to $9 with only $11 here and $11.25 at Philadelphia for No. 1 anthracite, while shipments during the week have been made from Birmingham to Hamburg, Rotterdam, Great Britain, Australia and Japan, though in the aggregate not large. But contracts for 12,000 tons of steel rails have been placed at Chicago, and pending contract there for structural work are estimated at 25,000 tons.

In general it may be said that the markets west of Philadelphia are remarkably strong, with scarcely any indication of decline in the demand for finished products.

Failures for the week have been 254 in the United States, against 241 last year, and 15 in Canada, against 30 last year.

A BRUTAL CRIME.

Three Tramps Throw a Man From a Train Near Conneaut.

ASHTABULA, O., July 2.—William Rising of Lockport, N. Y., was thrown from a Lake Erie train near Conneaut station yesterday morning and killed, his head being mashed by the wheels. The conductor of the train says that the deed was done by three tramps, who were also on the train. Officers are searching for the murderers. The body of Rising, whose identity was learned from papers on his person, is being held at Conneaut awaiting the arrival of relatives.

The Public Debt.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The monthly statement of the public debt shows that at the close of business Thursday the debt less cash in the treasury amounted to $1,027,085,492, a decrease during the month of $10,688,268. This decrease is accounted for by a corresponding increase in the amount of cash on hand.

HE WAS A HUMBBUG.

His Wife Was Disgusted When She Learned the Author of the Article.

Scribbler had come home from the office in the evening quite "played out," because of the output of his pen and brain that day. He was lying on the couch in the sitting room after supper, when Mrs. Scribbler, who had been reading a magazine, said:

"See here, George Scribbler, here is something that fits you to a T, and I want you to read it."

"What's it about?" "It's about these funny kind of men who must have everything just so in their homes, no matter how hard it makes it for others. You know that you are one of the funniest men alive. Every rug and chair and book must be exactly in its place, and a little dust sets you to scolding. You must have a clean napkin every meal, and you cannot eat if there is a tiny spot on the tablecloth, and everything must be served just exactly so or you get grumpy. Now, is not that true?"

"A man likes to see things in order in his own house," said Scribbler.

"Of course he does, and I try to keep things in order, but I defy any woman to maintain the degree of order you expect with four or five children in the house. Now, this article refers to just such unreasonable, fussy men as you are, and it is not one bit too severe even when it says that they are small spirited and lacking in true manliness. I do wish that you would read the article."

"I don't need to," replied Scribbler, sitting up to stretch and groan.

"I'd like to know why you do not need to read it, George Scribbler?"

"Because—well, the fact is, my dear, I wrote that article myself."—Denver Post.

Where to Spend the Fourth.

An opportunity for a delightful Fourth of July or vacation trip and a visit to the Ohio soldiers at Fairfax Court House, Va., is presented by the special low rate excursions to Washington over the Pennsylvania lines for the National Educational association meeting. Tickets at special reduced fare will be sold July 3, 4, 5 and 6, good returning until July 15, with privilege to extend until Aug. 31.

A number of persons are arranging to make the trip from this locality to see the sights at the national capital and visit relatives and friends among the soldiers at Camp Alger, near Washington. It will be a delightful way in which to spend the glorious Fourth. Full particulars about rates, time of trains and other details will be furnished in reply to inquiries addressed to Local Ticket Agent Adam Hill or J. K. Dillon, district passenger agent, Pittsburgh, Pa.

During the excursion season special rates will also be in effect via Pennsylvania Lines for special and local events. For particular information please apply to the nearest Pocket Agent of the Pennsylvania Lines or address J. K. Dillon, District Passenger Agent, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Summer in Colorado.

Colorado is particularly inviting as a summer haven. The climate is remarkable for its invigorating effect, and the state is rich in grand scenery and points of interest where a vacation may be pleasantly spent. Special arrangements are being made for the entertainment of visitors who are this season expected to be attracted to the seclusion and quiet of the Rockies and the hills and canyons of that great wonderland.

Colorado today is nearer home than in former years. The fast schedules of the Pennsylvania route and connecting lines bring the centennial state within easy reach, and the cost of a trip thither is no longer a luxury. The special low rate tourist tickets over the Pennsylvania lines places the cost for transportation within the limit of the usual allowance for vacation trips. For special information about rates, time of trains and other details please apply to nearest Pennsylvania lines ticket agent or address J. K. Dillon, D. P. agt., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Summer Havens.

Illustrated information about America's popular summer resorts is being distributed by passenger and ticket agents of the Pennsylvania lines. It includes descriptions of leading places of summer sojourn along the ocean, in the mountains of the east, and in the lake region and Northern Michigan, all of which are within easy reach over the Pennsylvania route. For a copy please apply to the nearest Pennsylvania lines ticket agent, or address your requests to J. K. Dillon, district passenger agent, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Fourth of July Excursions.

July 2d, 3d and 4th excursion tickets, at one fare for the round trip, will be sold account 4th of July festivities via Pennsylvania lines; return coupons good until Tuesday, July 5th, inclusive.

UNION LABELS.

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others?

The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent working hours, and union labor employed.

PATRONIZE UNION CLERKS.

All members of the R. C. N. P. A. can show this card. Ask for it when making your purchases. Endorsed by the A. F. of L.

ONE-THIRD ACTUAL SIZE.

COLOR IS CHANGED EACH QUARTER. Good only during months named in lower left hand corner and when properly signed, and STAMPED with the number of the Local.

UNION MADE BOOTS AND SHOES.

The Boot and Shoe Workers' union is the national head of the trade, and is a new combination of all the branches of boot and shoe workers. The above trade-mark which you find on the sole or lining of a boot or shoe, is a guarantee that the same is made by union labor. Look for the above design stamped on the sole of every pair of boots or shoes you buy.

CUSTOM TAILORS' LABEL.

The Journeymen Tailor's Label is to be found in the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the under side of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants. It is printed in black ink on white linen.

UNION MADE HATS.

This Label is about an inch and a half square, and is printed on buff-colored paper. It is placed on every union made hat before it leaves the workman's hands. If a dealer takes a label from one hat and places it in another, or has any detached labels in his store, do not buy from him, as his labels may be counterfeit, and his hats may be the product of scab or non-union labor.

UNION MADE CLOTHES.

You will find the linen label attached by machine stitching to the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the inside of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants.

BICYCLE LABEL.

"Do unto others as ye would that others should do unto you." You will endorse the "Golden Rule" by buying and riding bicycles bearing this label. The label is as follows: The Union shield is in red, white and blue, on a background of pea green, bordered by gold. The label will be placed on the upper front side of the tube that receives the seat post.

BLUE LABEL CIGARS.

This label is printed in black ink on light blue paper, and is pasted on the cigar-box. Don't mix it up with the U. S. revenue label on the box, as the latter is nearly of a similar color.

The above Label, printed on blue paper, will be found on all plug tobacco and on the wrappers of chewing tobacco manufactured in union tobacco factories.

UNION BREAD AND CRACKERS.

This is a full size facsimile of the Label of the Bakers' and Confectioners' union. It is printed on fine white paper and is pasted on each loaf of union-made bread. It is an evidence that the bread is made under fair and wholesome conditions, and in clean and healthy bakeries. Following is the confectioners' and cracker Label:

WAITING FOR A CALL

General Garretson's Men Are Anxious.

COLONELS WERE ALL CALLED

And Notified to Have Their Men Ready to Move at an Hour's Notice - Private Holloway Is Unfit For Campaign Duty.

The Camp Alger correspondent of the Pittsburg Dispatch again has something to say of a contemplated movement. Whether his information is correct remains to be seen. It follows;

General Garretson summoned his three colonels before him this afternoon. Col. C. V. Hard, of the Eighth Ohio, and Colonel Foster, of the Sixth Illinois, were told that all of the Buckeye boys and half of the western command must be ready to move within an hour of receiving orders.

No word has reached the camp as to the whereabouts of the cruiser Yale. It was not until late this evening that the commissary would issue any more rations to the Eighth Ohio, as he expected them to move. Finally three days' rations were distributed. The boys expect to be routed out of bed tonight.

The heat was tropically phenomenal in camp today. In the coolest place, the First division hospital, the government thermometers showed 101½ degrees in the shade. In the wall tents among the regiments it ranged from 104 to 106, and in the open the mercury went to 120 degrees. General Graham gave orders to suspend all labor not absolutely necessary, and that the men be kept out of the sun as much as possible.

There is a good deal of bowel complaint among all the commands, and the doctors are alarmed at the spread of typhoid fever. Three men from the New York cavalry and two from the One Hundred and Fifty-ninth Indiana are affected now. All have been rushed to Fort Myer hospital. Measles is also prevalent.

In Garretson's brigade discharges are being issued to all the men physically unfit for campaigning. Private Holloway, of Company E, will go on account of physical disability. From Company H, Sergeant Campbell and Private Brown will be released. From the Sixth Illinois six men have been released. Three officers have resigned from the Sixth Massachusetts on the eve of departure, and the regiment is very angry about two of the officers, openly imputing a backdown. In the Eighth Ohio several cases occurred today in which men applied for discharges and the doctors said there was nothing the matter with them. These men are now busy explaining to their comrades.

Each company in the regiments of Garretson's brigade have been equipped with 16 picks and 16 shovels, and the three regiments are on a war basis.

A big bathhouse under a regular circus tent has been erected close to the Eighth Ohio camp. Lieutenant Colonel Dick is not with the regiment yet, but is ready to join as soon as the order comes to go.

A SENSATION

Would Have Resulted Had the Case Come to Trial.

The friends of a well-known young man of this city are congratulating him because he narrowly escaped being involved in a nasty scandal.

The husband of the woman in the case learned of his attentions, and had arranged to sue for divorce, bringing the young man's name often into the petition, and placing him in an unenviable light. Friends learned of the matter, and after several weeks of hard work succeeded in effecting a settlement, damages being paid. The amount is not known.

AFTER OFFICE.

A Number of Local Republicans Want Jobs.

The announcement that President McKinley would revoke the order, whereby a great many offices in the postal and interior departments were placed under the civil service law, has aroused a number of local politicians, and it is said East Liverpool will be after places.

Deputy collectorships under Frank McCord seem to be the specialty, and he will get many applications from this section.

CANCELING STAMPS.

According to the new revenue law you must cancel every stamp you put on a check, and you must draw a stamp on every check you draw. The News Review has the best canceler. Leave your order at once.

SPOKE FOR ANNEXATION.

Pettus, an Alabama Democrat, Favored It in a Speech in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—For nearly six hours yesterday the senate had under discussion the Hawaiian annexation resolutions. The first formal speech in favor of the resolutions was delivered by Mr. Pettus (Dem., Ala.). His address was strong and patriotic. As a Democrat he maintained that the question was in no sense a party issue, but the proposition was one which ought to command, under the circumstances, the support of men of all parties.

He had a heated colloquy with Mr. Caffery (Dem., La.), in the course of which the latter intimated that the Alabama senator was afflicted with senility. Mr. Pettus' retort was vigorous and resentful of what he termed an insult. Mr. Caffery subsequently disclaimed any intention of insulting Mr. Pettus.

Mr. Mallory (Dem., Fla.) presented a constitutional argument against the acquisition of territory by joint resolution of congress.

Some New Nominations.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Among the nominations sent by the president yesterday to the senate were: Charles A. Bosworth, assistant treasurer of the United States at Cincinnati. Pennsylvania postmasters—John C. McKean, Charlevoix; J. F. Nicholson, Monongahela; Allen F. Dickey, Waynesburg.

Assistant Secretary to President.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—President McKinley yesterday appointed George Bruce Cortelyou of New York assistant secretary to the president, to fill the additional position of that grade recently created by congress. For nearly three years Mr. Cortelyou has been the chief executive clerk to the president.

Bankruptcy Bill Signed.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The president signed the bankruptcy bill yesterday afternoon.

ALL CHICAGO PAPERS TO SUSPEND.

Publishers Decided to Thus Meet a Strike of Stereotypers.

CHICAGO, July 2.—The following bulletin was posted at every Chicago newspaper office last evening at about 10 o'clock:

"At 8 o'clock this (Friday) evening the Stereotypers' union notified the publishers of Chicago that unless their demands for an increase of wages from $3.25 to $4 per day, a reduction of the working day from eight to seven hours, with payment at the rate of 75 cents per hour for all overtime, and other concessions were at once acceded to, they would refuse to return to work. In consequence of this action the _____, in common with all other Chicago papers, will not appear Saturday."

This action of the newspapers was in pursuance of an understanding recently entered into, including among other provisions the following agreement:

"In the event of a strike in any of the departments of one or more of the Chicago daily newspaper offices the mechanical resources of all our offices shall be pooled to the extent and with the purpose that no newspaper shall be published unless and until all the newspapers can be promptly published on the same day."

The stereotypers have been averaging from $19.50 to $22 per week on six-day evening papers, and from $24 to $27 on seven-day morning papers. It is anticipated that the influx of stereotypers from all parts of the country will be so immediate and so great that the interruption of publication will continue for but a few days.

Ancient Order of Hibernians.

TRENTON, N. J., July 2.—The national convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians finished its work last night and adjourned sine die. J. P. Keatings of Chicago was chosen national president yesterday afternoon; James E. Dolan of Syracuse, N. Y., elected vice president; James O'Sullivan of Philadelphia, re-elected national secretary; P. T. Moran of Washington, elected national treasurer, and P. J. O'Connor of Savannah, Ga., Edward J. Slattery of South Framingham, Mass., N. J. Burns of Indianapolis and Patrick A. O'Neill of Philadelphia, national directors. Boston was selected for holding the next national convention in May, 1900.

Disavowed by Democrats.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—At yesterday's session of the house Mr. Bailey demanded the name of the Democratic congressman who was said by Mr. Grosvenor to have written an article considered an attack on Bailey. Mr. Grosvenor refused to give it. Mr. Bailey had the Democratic members stand up to disavow authorship of the article, which those present did. Previously Mr. Grosvenor said he thought the time had come when the author of the article should come forth and acknowledge it.

Arraigned For a Brutal Crime.

CHARLESTON, July 2.—Alonzo Rogers, Israel McKnight, H. S. Stokes, Moultrie Epps, Henry Godwin, N. V. Wood and W. A. Webster were arraigned before United States Commissioner Smith in this city yesterday on the charge of murdering Fraser B. Baker, the negro postmaster who was lynched at Lake City last February.

Woman Eligible to Office.

GRAND RAPIDS, July 2.—Mrs. Flora B. Renkes, Democratic nominee for state superintendent of public instruction, has received an opinion from the attorney general that she is constitutionally eligible to office, but, for personal reasons she will decline the nomination.

TRUST AMERICA.

REDRESS THEIR WRONGS.

The Relations Between the Insurgent and Dewey Amicable.

ADMIRAL MADE NO PROMISES.

He Reported to the Navy Department That He Had Left General Merritt Free to Act — Aguinaldo Promised Dewey He Would Not Enter Manila Until the Arrival of the American Troops—What Germany Wants—German Admiral Refused to Interfere.

LONDON, July 2.—The Hongkong correspondent of The Daily Mail says:

"To a friend of United States Consul Wildman General Aguinaldo has declared: 'The Philippines have the greatest confidence in America's fairness. We trust the American people, confident that with their support, we shall be able to obtain and hold our full rights and shall be respected by all the European powers. The Americans are redressing Cuban wrongs and will do the same for us in the Philippines.'"

"The relations between General Aguinaldo and Admiral Dewey are perfectly amicable. Two German war vessels have gone to Maricao to coal, and may proceed to some other port."

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The navy department received a dispatch yesterday from Admiral Dewey dated Cavite, June 27. He made no mention of reinforcements and said he had avoided committing this government to any policy and had left General Merritt free.

LONDON, July 2.—A representative of General Aguinaldo, the leader of the Philippine insurgents, who served with him during the last insurrection and who is now in London, is quoted in an interview as saying that before Aguinaldo left Hongkong he promised Rear Admiral Dewey (then commodore) not to enter Manila until the arrival of the American troops.

Aguinaldo's representative adds that he has just received a dispatch from Cavite saying a republic has been proclaimed there by Aguinaldo, under the protection of the United States, and approved by Great Britain and Japan.

Continuing the representative of the Philippine leader asserts that he has been to Berlin, where he saw the under secretary for the foreign office, who declared that all Germany wanted was that the existing import tariffs would not be altered by a republic being established in the Philippine islands, or at least that preference should not be given to any other nation.

BERLIN, July 2.—The following dispatch has been received from Hongkong: "According to trustworthy intelligence from Manila, the Spanish general had a few days ago, at his own request, a meeting with Admiral Diedrichs, the commander of the German naval forces in the far east, in order to propose, in behalf of the Spanish government, that Manila should be handed into the provisional charge of a neutral commander. The proposal was rejected by Admiral Diedrichs in view of the American blockade."

The Manila news, via Hongkong, referring to the action of Admiral Diedrichs, may be looked upon as being a semi-official note, as it was issued by the semi-official news agency here.

Opposed to Peace.

MADRID, July 2.—Two cabinet councils were held yesterday. A revival of the war feeling is noticeable. The clerical organs publish violent articles against the advocates of peace, and the priests are preaching a war to the bitter end. The conservatives also declare against the idea of peace at the present moment.

Another Degree For Dewey.

NORTHFIELD, Vt., July 2.—At the commencement exercises of Norwich university yesterday a degree of master of military science was conferred upon Rear Admiral George Dewey, a graduate of the university.

JOE LEITER'S PROBABLE LOSS.

His Father Borrowed $3,000,000 and May Want More.

CHICAGO, July 2.—Levi Z. Leiter has completed negotiations with the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company for a loan of $3,000,000 for ten years at 4 per cent. The security consists of a number of the most valuable pieces of business property in the city.

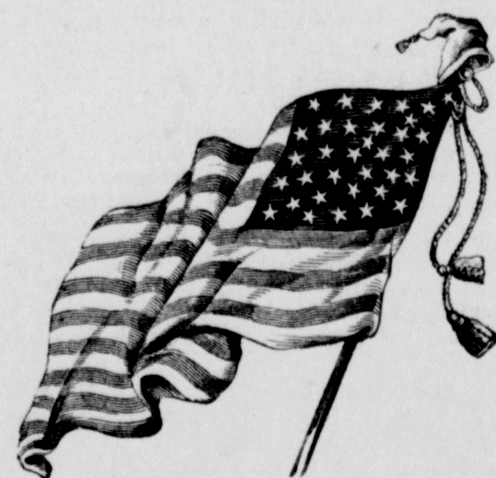

In completing the details of the loan Mr. Leiter informed the agents of the Northwestern that he would probably require further advances of about $5,500,000 or $4,000,000.

The money obtained by Mr. Leiter will go toward the liquidation of the debt incurred by his son, Joseph Leiter, in wheat speculation. The share of Joseph Leiter in the immense estate of his father will be nearly, if not entirely, consumed by his speculation.

A Labor Leader Assaulted.

CHICAGO, July 2.—John A. Finnegan, president of the American Federation of Steam Engineers, is at the county hospital with a fractured skull, the result of an attack upon him by some men supposed to be members of the Stonecutters' union. He may recover.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Monday being the great holiday there will be no issue of the News Review.

A valuable dog owned by Rev Foutte, of West Market street, died this morning.

A large number of wheelmen from the city will tomorrow take trips to neighboring cities.

The work on the interior of the Memorial chapel is progressing rapidly, and it will be completed in a few weeks.

The Crockery City Outing club left this morning for New Comerstown. The club will spend two weeks camping near that place.

The Woman's Good Citizenship union will hold a special prayermeeting at the First M. E. church next Tuesday evening. All are invited.

The trustees of the Young Men's Christian association met last evening and discussed plans. Secretary Kling was present at the meeting.

Building fund day will be observed at the Christian church tomorrow morning. The collection taken at the Sunday school will be converted to this fund.

Reverend Gardner, of this place, spent the day in Mingo Junction visiting friends. He was at one time pastor of the Presbyterian church of that place.

The case of E. L. Cohen as agent for Hyman Cohen against John Seanor was heard before Squire Rose yesterday afternoon. The defendant was found not guilty.

Reverend Weary, of St. Stephen's church, will take his vacation about the middle of July, and will be absent three weeks. Services will be held by Doctor Jones, of Wellsville, during his absence.

The water works trustees met last evening, with Messrs. Metsch and Shenkel present. A number of bills were ordered paid, and Clerk Gipner was instructed to have the deeds recorded of the Thompson land connecting with the lower reservoir.

The Potters' Protective association, through their attorney, have entered suit in Squire Rose's court to recover $135.60 from F. W. Roberts & Co. The amount is claimed as being a balance due on 2,195 pounds of type metal. The case is set for July 5 at 12 o'clock.

The train that carried the Red Men and Daughters of Pocahontas to Silver Lake yesterday did not return to the city until 1:45 o'clock this morning. The train arriving at 8 o'clock last evening carried signals from Hudson to Liverpool for the picnic train.

The work of paving Jethro street, between the sidewalks and street car tracks, is being rapidly completed. When the work is done the street will be paved wide enough for one team to drive clear to the trestle without getting off the pavement.

No arrests were made last night, and no one was around city hall this morning. The mayor's and city clerk's offices were locked, but the jail door and the doors of two cells were open. A good amount of business is expected to be secured tonight and disposed of Monday.

Lieutenant Johnson and his company marched through the principal streets last night. This was the first drill the company had since last week. Johnson was seen this morning and stated he expected to go to Lisbon not later than next Wednesday. The distance is expected to be traversed in from four to five hours.

Mayor Bough has decided that nothing can be done in the case of Motor-man Ira Clark who yesterday ran into Jack Clendenning as there is no ordinance covering the affair. The case will not be permitted to die, and as soon as Clendenning is able it is probable he will enter suit for damages against the street railway company as influential friends have taken the case in hand.

TWO STORIES

BY M. QUAD.

[Copyright, 1898, by C. B. Lewis.]

THE COLONEL'S ORATION.

"Speaking about the Fourth of July," said the colonel as half a dozen of us were smoking on the platform while we were waiting for the train, "but I had a rather singular experience last year! I was engaged to deliver the oration at Green Hill, and left Taylorsville at noon on the 3d, to drive across the country."

"And you met with an accident of course?" queried one of the group.

"I did, sir. When the journey was half completed, I had a sort of sunstroke and was obliged to put up at a farmhouse and send for a doctor. I was in bed for two days. I was so ill that I did not give the people my name or tell them my errand until too late to notify the citizens of Green Hill."

"And so they had no Fourth of July oration?"

"But they did have, and that is the singular part of the adventure," replied the colonel. "A man arrived there on the morning of the Fourth who claimed to be me, and at the proper time he delivered the address and took the $50 and left."

"What sort of an oration did he deliver?"

"A very poor one, and that's what hurts me most of all. No one was satisfied with it. It was a rambling, shambling discourse—a mixture of politics, religion and history—and, though he was paid for it, the people felt that they had been swindled. If he hadn't used my name, he would have been hooted off the platform."

"Colonel," said the man who was smoking a brier root on the baggage trucks, "did you notice a buggy behind yours just before you were sunstruck?"

"I—I believe I did."

"I was in that buggy, strange to say. I am in the windmill business and was on my way to Green Hill. I helped put you to bed at the farmhouse."

"Is it possible?"

"It is, sir. In so doing I found your manuscript of the oration. I read it over

"SIR!" EXCLAIMED THE COLONEL, and saw it was a mighty poor effort, but rather than disappoint the people of Green Hill I committed it to memory and went over there and delivered it."

"Then you—you—"

"I am the man. I took your name, made the address and collected the money. I was actuated by the kindest motives, but my conscience has always upbraided me. That oration of yours wasn't worth over 10 cents. They paid me $50 for it."

"Sir!" exclaimed the colonel.

"And I am now on my way back to Green Hill."

"Sir!"

"To return the people the sum of $49.90 and tell them I will never be guilty of a similar crime."

"Sir!" gasped the colonel as soon as he could pull himself together. "This is a singular affair. I was simply telling a yarn to pass away time. Nothing of the sort happened to me."

"And I was only lying just to offset you," laughed the man, and we all laughed with him—all except the colonel. An hour later, as we sat together on the train, the latter suddenly turned to me and whispered:

"By George, but somehow or other I can't help but think that fellow meant to rub it in on me!"

ORATOR WHO DIDN'T ORATE.

The committee on arrangements at Red Hoss Bend had secured a Fourth of July orator from Raymondville, and on the night of the 3d he arrived at the mining camp. We had chipped in $1 apiece to get a new barrel of whisky, an American flag, a lot of fireworks and an orator, and the boys were a little anxious to know if the latter was all right. Therefore as soon as he had eaten supper he was waited upon by a small crowd, with Jim Barney as spokesman, and when they had been regularly introduced Jim led off with:

"Look-a-yere, jedge, we ar' a-lookin fur somethin redhot from you tomorrew. Kin you give us some speelmens from that orashun?"

"Why, yes, of course," was the reply.

"It begins, like all other Fourth of July orations, with the band of pilgrims who sailed from England in search of liberty. They landed at Plymouth Rock, you know."

"What sorter people was them pilgrims?"

"Very respectable and religious."

"None of the whoop-er-up sort among 'em, eh?"

"No."

"Then you'd better skip 'em, jedge, fur our crowd will be lookin fur a different sort. What cums next?"

"Well, after awhile England laid a tax on tea, and the people of Boston got so mad they turned out and threw a whole cargo overboard."

"Anybody killed in the scrimmage?"

"I think not."

"Jest throwed the tea over and went home and went to bed, eh?"

"That was the way of it, I guess."
"Then you'd better leave that out, jedge, as it wouldn't interest us two minutes. If they could do all that and no one get hurt it couldn't hev bin much of a row. What happened arter that?"
"The colonists began to think of independence," replied the judge. "It wasn't long before they were ready to resist Eng-

"STOP RIGHT THAR, JEDGE!" land's unjust demands by force of arms. You have heard of Patrick Henry of course?"

"No, never have. What was his bolt?"

"Oratory. He was the one who said, 'Give me liberty or give me death!'"

"And did he pick up his guns and sail in?"

"I—I think not."

"Then you'd better cut that out, jedge, fur we don't cotton to a chap who is all talk and can't shoot. Anything more happen?"

"Well, the British army marched out of Boston to Lexington, and the Americans killed a number of them."

"Kill a thousand and lick the rest outer their butes?"

"It won't do, jedge—it won't do," said Jim, with a shake of the head. "If the Americans didn't lick the British till they hollered, it wouldn't interest this crowd fur shucks. You'll hev to cut that all out. What cums next?"

"Bunker Hill."

"Who got licked thar?"

"The Americans retreated, but—but—"

"Stop right thar, jedge!" exclaimed Jim as he rose up to go. "What we want is a redhot orashun, with the Americans on top and givin everybody else hail Columbia, and as you haven't got it, and ar' not the critter we took you fur, you kin start fur home when you h'ar the first warwhoop in the mornin!" M. QUAD.

BRIEF WAR NOTES.

Secretary Alger has decided that the bodies of soldiers killed in Cuba shall be brought to the United States for burial at the close of the war.

Joseph Schildt, a half breed Indian of the Blackfoot tribe, has made his way to New York to enlist and will go with the One Hundred and Sixty-ninth.

The treasury department has decided to use postage stamps with the imprint "I. R." for revenue stamps under the new law until the regular stamps can be issued.

Aguinaldo is said to have made a compact with Admiral Dewey not to attack the walled part of Manila until the American troops arrive and to then co-operate with them.

Campos declares that the majority of Spaniards are eager for peace and averse to a revolution. He is willing to organize a government and undertake to maintain order.

Major Lamotte and two volunteer cavalymen raised Old Glory on the Altares mountains amid cheers of soldiers, the sounding of ships' sirens and the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by bands.

Some of our soldiers rode into Juragua on a captured locomotive. They found that the Spanish had fled so precipitately as to abandon their breakfast, which was cooking. A supply of much needed flour was captured.

General Shafter's army is sadly in need of horses, there being barely enough to drag the artillery. All the officers have to walk. The Cubans hang any person selling horses or mules, the order having been issued to keep them from falling into the hands of the Spanish.

The fight of the rough riders and regular troopers near Sevilla is called the battle of La Quasina. Many deeds of heroism are reported. Captain Capron and Sergeant Hamilton Fish, Jr., fell gallantly fighting. Surgeon Church dressed the wounds of a soldier between the lines under fire. Lieutenant Colonel Roosevelt led his men on a charge, gun in hand and cheering them on.—New York World.

Let It Leak.

Mrs. Rousem (early in the morning)—John, John! Don't you smell escaping gas?

John (sleepily)—I don't care if I do. It's the hotel's gas. I don't have to pay for it.—Philadelphia North American.
